

Big Assignment of Lowell Men Hun Losses to Date 180,000

For Camp Devens Today

Largest Individual Quota of Local Men for National Army Begins Training—Record Breaking Crowd at Station Gives Soldiers Rousing Send-off

Approximately 265 Lowell men with a number from other cities were forwarded to Camp Devens from this city this morning and their departure from the Middlesex street station shortly after 10 o'clock attracted one of the largest crowds ever seen there on a similar occasion.

It was easily the biggest send-off that the city has yet experienced and although formality was wholly lacking, nevertheless, the presence of thousands of friends and relatives of the employ National army men lent an air of dignity and impressiveness that could not be overlooked.

Today's quota was the largest individual increment that has ever been sent from Lowell to Ayer at one time. The departure of the boys this morning in most instances took every available man in Class 1 from the four local exemption boards and for that reason those who went away today were really the vanguard of Lowell's first great installment to the armed forces of the nation. From now on, the exemption board officials will have to cut deeper and deeper into the man power of the city to provide their quotas.

There was a record-breaking crowd at the Middlesex street station to cheer the men as they pulled out with their fighting men at 10 for the cantonment "up there." Several municipal officials were present, but beyond that there wasn't a touch of formality. There was no music and no speechmaking except the singing of enthusiastic fellows and the mock farewell addresses of those who couldn't keep quiet.

Somebody was thoughtful enough to bring a large Old Glory to the station and many of the men rallied around this before boarding the train and cheered their mightiest. And as the train pulled out, one energetic standard bearer who was being left behind, marched the length of the station platform waving the banner. Hats came off automatically as he passed and there were rousing cheers. Beyond this, the send-off was like the others that have been witnessed here. The men were scheduled to leave at 9:50 on a special train but it was 20 minutes later when they eventually got under way. The men assembled at the headquarters of their respective exemption boards shortly after 9 o'clock and after being given final instructions and having their names checked off, they marched to the railroad station. Here the names were again checked and then the soldiers boarded four coaches which were awaiting them on Track 1. About 10 o'clock and a few seconds later seven cars bearing draftees from Haverhill and Lawrence pulled into the station amid riotous cheering and hand-waving. Then the Lowell train was transferred onto Track 2, annexed to Lawrence and Haverhill coaches and after a brief wait, the long caravan of stalwart defenders began its journey to Camp Devens. People lined every available place in the station and even the boundaries on Thorndike, Middlesex and Chelmsford streets. It was one of the largest crowds ever

STEADY ADVANCE

Fifteen Fresh Hun Divisions Fail to Stop Allies, Says General March

Orders Six New Infantry Divisions Organized in United States This Month

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The advance of the allied and American forces around the Aisne-Marne salient, has been practically steady for the last two days, General March, chief of staff, said today, despite the fact that 15 fresh divisions of German troops have been thrown into the fighting at Soissons and on the line south of there.

The Germans are fighting desperately to retain the single railway line remaining in their hands, over which heavy material can be removed as they retreat. If that railway, running from Fismes to Fere-en-Tardenois, is reached by the allied troops, German forces remaining in the salient will be pocketed.

On the Rheims side of the salient, official reports show the enemy has been thrown back an average distance of a mile and a half over a 10 mile front, despite heavily wooded country and high ground to aid his defense. The area lost by the Germans during the last week about equals that gained by them on the Flanders front in April.

Organize Six New Divisions

General March announced that he had ordered six new infantry divisions organized in this country during July, stationed at Camp Devens, Mass., Meade, Md., Sheridan, Ala., Custer, Mich., Funston, Kan., and Lewis, Wash. Two regular infantry regiments will form the nucleus of each new division. Home guards have replaced regulars at interior guard posts for this purpose and the regulars are now moving to the camps designated. Aside from the two infantry regiments of regulars, the divisions will be composed of national army troops.

The chief of staff said the American divisions he mentioned last Saturday as involved in the fighting were still constantly engaged. He added no additional American units to those already known to be on the line in this region.

Storm Helped Gen. Foch

In discussing the situation on the Aisne-Marne line, General March said it bore striking similarity to what happened to the Austrian drive in Italy. A great storm had cut off the advancing Austrians on the Pieve line, he said, and disaster resulted. Similarly, a heavy storm masked the movement of tanks and troops when General Foch struck on the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry front, and the Germans were taken completely by surprise.

Gen. March said it seemed that the Lord was getting tired of the partnership of "me and Gott."

The French attack of yesterday, north of Montdidier on the Picardy front, is viewed, Gen. March said, as a local operation not directly involved in the strategy of the Aisne-Marne battle front. It has a great value, however, he said, as it serves to keep the Germans guessing.

BIG LINER SUNK

Giant White Star Steamer Justicia in 24 Hour Battle With Hun Submarine

Attacked After Delivering Large Contingent of American Troops Overseas

AN IRISH PORT, Monday, July 23. (By the Associated Press.)—The giant White Star liner Justicia has been torpedoed and sunk. The Justicia was formerly the Dutch steamer Staten-dam, which was taken over by the British government on the stocks at Belfast, when she was nearing completion. She was a vessel of 32,224 tons gross.

24-Hour Battle With Sub

Four hundred of the crew of the Justicia have been landed here. Survivors report that the liner was sunk after a 24-hour fight with submarines. No passengers were lost, and only 10 of the crew were killed. The first torpedo struck the engine room and the ship then stopped. Several other torpedoes were fired, but only two of the missiles were effective.

Enemy Pays Dearly for Attack

The story of the fight between the German submarine and the Justicia, if it could be told, would make one of the finest in the annals of anti-submarine warfare. Nothing which has occurred in connection with the sinking of the former White Star liner gives navy men any cause for misgivings over the use and methods showed up to excellent advantage and indicate that the entire naval forces can always be counted on to make the enemy pay dearly for every attempt he makes.

Crew of 700—11 Dead

LONDON, July 24.—The Justicia carried a crew of between 600 and 700. Eleven members of the crew are dead. The Justicia, says a Belfast despatch, was sunk off the north Irish coast on Saturday morning last.

Ten Torpedoes Discharged

One of the crew is quoted by the Belfast Evening Telegraph that 10 torpedoes were discharged at the Justicia. Four of the approaching missiles, he added, were exploded by gunfire from the ship.

Was Returning to America

NEW YORK, July 24.—The Justicia was returning to an American port after delivering a large contingent of American troops. It was learned here. The Justicia had a troop-carrying capacity of between 7000 and 8000 men. In size she approached the Leviathan liner, now in the service of the American government, carrying troops to Europe.

The Justicia was designed as a modern passenger liner for the trade between New York and Rotterdam.

After she was completed at Belfast, the Cunard Steamship Co. turned her over to the British admiralty. She was 746 feet long, 83 feet beam and 43 feet deep.

The Terms

First—Germany wants no annexations or indemnities in the west.

Second—The peace treaties with Russia and Rumania may not be questioned.

Third—The principle of self-determination of peoples has not been discussed but may be settled at the peace conference where the fate of Belgium also is to be settled.

Fourth—The Balkan question is to be settled around the conference tables.

PATRICK KELLEY DEAD

Well Known Citizen Passed Away Last Night at His Home in Andover Street

Patrick Kelley, a well known resident of this city, died last night at his home, 578 Andover street. Mr. Kelley was in business for several years in Davidson street and was a former member of the Lowell police department. He was a man of winning personality and he appreciated friendships. It will be with great sorrow that many people in Lowell will learn of his death.

Modest and retiring, never courting publicity, Mr. Kelley moved about with the smile of friendship on his lips and a hearty grip of the hand that made one feel a little better for having received it.

Mr. Kelley, strong and rugged for his years, had been ailing for about four weeks and while it was known to his family that he could not recover, his death came as a great shock to them. His genial disposition and kindly way endeared him to all with whom he came in contact and he will be mourned by many for whom he made life more cheerful and by those whom he assisted and advised.

He was born in Ireland 31 years ago and came to Lowell in 1855. About forty years ago he went into the bottling business in Middle street and later moved his establishment to Davidson street, remaining in business up to the time of his death. He bore his illness with true Christian fortitude and resignation. Deceased was a fervent attendant of the Immaculate Conception church, being one of its pioneer members. He was vice president of the Middlesex Trust Co. and a member of the Lowell Lodge of Elks. He is survived by a son, Thomas F. Kelley.

Americans, French and British Still Hammering Flanks of Crown Prince's Army—Reserves Fail to Stop Allies —Break Up Hun Counter Attacks

(By the Associated Press.)

Allied pressure on the Rheims-Soissons salient maintains its progress against the Germans who also are being hampered in their preparations for an eventual retirement by hurricanes of shells, from allied guns and hundreds of bombs dropped by allied airmen.

Allies Beat Down Foe and Advance

Stubborn as is the resistance of the Germans at vital points, especially from the Ourcq along the Marne to the Ardre, the French, American and British continue to advance. Heavy artillery fire and hundreds of machine guns form the backbone of the German defense. This has tended to slow up the allies, but has not stopped their progress.

French Push on Toward Hun Base

On the important sector astride the Ourcq, the French have moved forward another kilometer toward the important German base of Fere-en-Tardenois. The town with its supplies of food and ammunition is now within six miles of the advancing French line. A great fire has been burning there many hours.

Victims Hun Attack Futile

While the French progress toward Fere from the west, French and American are gaining steadily from the south. Around Barbillon wood and toward the Marne, the allies, in heavy fighting, on rain-soaked fields, are pressing back the Germans, who have attacked viciously but apparently futilely. Farther east, along the Marne, the bridgeheads on the northern bank are being enlarged by the French and Americans, who have advanced two more miles between Mont St. Pere and Charleville. The Germans evidently have been driven entirely from the north bank except at several points east of Dormans.

French Repulse Counter Attack

Following its policy of conservatism the French war office reports nothing but heavy artillery fire around the salient and the repulse of a German counter attack in the region of Vignay, five miles southwest of Rheims. Nothing is said as to progress against the increased German resistance north of the Marne, nor is there mention of the situation north of Montdidier, where on Tuesday morning, the French took positions dominating long reaches of the Aisne river.

Rain Slows Up Fighting

From unofficial sources it is reported that the rainy weather of the last few days has slowed up the fighting between Soissons and Rheims, and probably also has retarded the German retirement from that bag in which the crown prince's forces were caught by Gen. Mangin's thrust against the western side of the salient.

Plans for German Retreat

Allied airman report conditions back of the German lines as indicative of a German retreat as far north as the Vesle river. The line of the Ourcq has been virtually rendered untenable by the allies' advance to the neighborhood of Oulchy-le-Chateau and Oulchy-le-Village, north of the stream.

Allies Gain South of Soissons

Just south of Soissons, the French and Americans are known to have reached the western bank of the Crise river, but there have been no reports of a further advance in this vital region. Should the allies succeed in crossing the Crise in force and in fact, ing the plateau to the eastward of that stream, German occupation of Soissons would probably be short-lived. Such an advance would also make the line of the Vesle of slight advantage to the Germans and would probably compel their eventual retirement to the Aisne river. For this reason, the allied efforts to force eastward of Soissons, may be expected to be redoubled and the German resistance at this point will probably be of the sternest character.

British Have Captured 1100

Southwest of Rheims, in the heavily wooded country along the Ardre, the British and French pressure continues. An average advance of about two-thirds of a mile has been made on a limited front. The drive here is a corollary to the French pressure astride the Ourcq. The British have taken 300 prisoners, making their total for three days 1100.

Huns Hurl Fresh Troops Into Foe

Fresh troops constantly are being thrown in by the Germans, apparently only for the purpose of checking the allied advance sufficiently to permit the removal of large quantities of stores and big guns from within the salient to a line paralleling the Vesle. The enemy is reported to be removing his supplies as rapidly and as well as he is able, but the allied artillery fire and bombing activity are harassing. Stores and ammunition dumps which cannot be moved, are being fired.

Allied Aviators Active

American and British aviators are aiding the French airmen in bombing expeditions in the zone behind the German lines. Thirty-seven machines were accounted for Monday, while Berlin claims that 53 allied airplanes were brought down.

Hun Losses Estimated at 180,000

Since the fighting began July 15, the Germans are reported to have used two, 60 and 70 divisions. Estimates from French headquarters place the German losses in that period at 180,000 killed, wounded and prisoners.

French Take 1500 in Picardy

In Picardy the Germans have failed to reach the French, who struck northwest of Montdidier, in which three towns and heights dominating the Aisne were taken. Paris reports that the prisoners taken total 1500. The French losses are said to have been slight.

Allies Push on in Albion

In Albania the French and Italians continue their progress up the Devoli valley toward Elbassan. In two days the French have captured 600 prisoners.

MAY LOWER AGE

Plans to Increase American Army to 5,000,000 Men Are Underway

Foch Will Have 2,000,000 Americans Before Present Fighting Season Closes

WASHINGTON, July 24.—It appears that, with probably not much more than a quarter of a million American troops engaged in the present battle, Gen. Foch has been able to turn the tables on the enemy and strike a blow that has changed the whole trend of the war.

Officials here realize the fact that the American army in going forward in a constantly increasing stream is the governing factor in restoring the initiative to the allied forces. Plans are therefore taking shape rapidly at the war department to accelerate and enlarge the American military program.

It is now virtually certain that Gen. Foch will have at least 2,000,000 American troops to supplement his allied armies before the present fighting season closes. Secretary Baker announced yesterday that the department's new program, embracing enlarged army appropriations, modifications of the draft ages to increase the reservoir of fighting men and plans for a larger mobilization than any yet undertaken, would soon be ready for congress. He would give no details, but the plans probably aim at getting under arms without delay a total force not far short of the 5,000,000 figure widely discussed in congress when the subject was last under consideration there.

The fighting in the Alsace salient, where the whole German offensive scheme has been upset, if not definitely defeated, by the bold strategy of Gen. Foch, has opened new possibilities. There is increased need for haste in the opinion of officials, in getting full American man-power ready to supplement the efforts that appear now to be taking shape toward hurrying the enemy back all along the front and beginning the advance that will end only when victory has been achieved.

K. OF C. LADIES' DAY TOMORROW

The Knights of Columbus will hold their annual ladies' day at the Genoa club grounds in Tyngsboro tomorrow and the affair promises to be a success in every way. Special invitations are extended to the K. of C. Knitting guild and the K. of C. Glee club and every member of the council and friends are urged to be present. Although the committee on arrangements has been somewhat hampered in carrying out its plans, on account of the limited time, it nevertheless promises to provide the usual excellent program. The program of sports will include the annual baseball game between the married and single men, a fat man's race, a money scramble for the children, and various races for the women folk. There will be a concert by the Trust School band during the afternoon while in the evening dancing will be enjoyed with music by Broderick's orchestra. Luncheon will be served in the course of the afternoon. Several special cars have been hired for the occasion. A great time is promised to all who attend.

DILLON TO URGE PRES. WILSON'S IDEALS

LONDON, July 24.—John Dillon, Irish Nationalist leader, gave notice in the house of commons yesterday that he would ask the government for a day for the discussion of the following motion:

"The policy pursued toward Ireland by the government is inconsistent with the great principles for the vindication of which the allied powers are carrying on the war. This policy has greatly alienated and exasperated the Irish people, and if persisted in will further alienate and exasperate them and will steadily increase the difficulty of reaching a settlement of the Irish question on the basis of friendship between the British and Irish nations."

"That this house entirely endorses the principles laid down by President Wilson in his great speech at the grave of George Washington, when speaking of the objects for which America and her allies are fighting. He said:

"These great objects can be put into a single sentence. What we seek is the reign of law, based upon the consent of the governed and sustained by the organized opinion of mankind. These great ends cannot be achieved by debating and seeking to reconcile and accommodate what statesmen may wish, with their projects for balances of power and of national opportunity. They can be realized only by the determination of what the thinking peoples of the world desire, with their longings for justice and for social freedom and opportunity."

"And that this house is of the opinion that the true solution of the Irish question is to put into operation without delay with regard to Ireland the principles laid down by President Wilson in his historic utterance."

NERVES UNSTRUNG BY RUSH OF WORK

In these war times we all want to keep ourselves at the highest point of efficiency to be able to do our share in the many demands for service that are made on all. Unless you stop the mental fatigue and build up your nerves you will be fortunate if you escape nervous breakdown, some form of paralysis or other severe nervous disorder.

"The strain of a rush of work at the ill, due to war orders, was getting on my nerves," says Mr. Thomas Wagner of 67 Marshall street, Lowell, Mass., "and I had stomach trouble. My appetite was poor and I could not digest food. I was uneasy all the time. I was restless and rolled and tossed about in bed. When I got up I did not feel like working. A friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I gave them a trial. I soon noticed that they were helping me. I can eat better and have more ambition. My nerves are steadier and I rest well at night. I certainly can recommend these pills after what they have done for me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a nerve tonic. They build up the nerves in the only possible way, by enriching the blood with elements the nerves need. The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved useful in so many severe cases that every sufferer is justified in giving them a trial for any form of nervous debility. They contain no opiate or harmful drug.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price fifty cents per box; six boxes for $2.50. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free book on nervous disorders.

BIG INCREASE IN CROP ACREAGE IN N. H.

DURHAM, N. H., July 24.—The crop acreage in New Hampshire increased more than 32 per cent this year, according to figures made public here today by the state food production committee. There was a large increase in gardening operations, 75 per cent more land being devoted to gardening than in 1917. The committee reported that frosts in June did not seriously damage any of the crops. The rains which followed revived many plants.

FOR 15th TERM Col. French, Dean of N. H. Legislature to Run

CONCORD, N. H., July 24.—Col. James E. French, dean of the New Hampshire house of representatives, yesterday filed with the secretary of state his candidacy for the republican nomination for the legislature from the town of Moultonboro, Carroll county, which he has represented at 14 previous sessions of the general court.

In 1916 he received the democratic as well as the republican nomination in the primary and every one of the 238 votes cast in the town at the November election. No candidate has filed against him thus far this year.

A contest for the republican county commissioner nominations in Merrimack county was assured today when William N. Johnson of Suncook filed, making four candidates for the three seats on the board. Commissioners Arthur H. Britton and John C. McQuillen of this city and Representative James L. Colby of Webster are the other candidates now in the field. Commissioner John F. Jewell of Warner had filed for re-nomination as yet.

THE PASSING OF THE OPEN SUGAR BOWL

BOSTON, July 24.—Declaring that the open sugar bowl in public eating places must go and that one ounce per person at each meal shall be the limit, Frank Hall, chairman of the hotel and restaurant division of the food administration, yesterday issued an order to all restaurants and hotel keepers and took steps to enforce the latest regulation regarding the use of sugar.

The food administrator says the rules are being pretty generally observed in Boston, however, instances of where the managers of eating places have disregarded the rule have been brought to the attention of the chairman of the food administration and hereafter, he says, he proposes to see that the regulations are strictly observed throughout the state.

BOMB FAILURES

Navy Department Making Thorough Inspection of Stock of Explosives

American Depth Bomb Second to None in Effectiveness Against U-Boats

WASHINGTON, July 24.—While waiting the result of the official inquiry into the failure of naval airplane bombs to explode when dropped by naval aviators at the German submarine off the New England coast Sunday, the navy department is making a thorough inspection of its entire stock of these projectiles to determine the reliability of detonation.

The ordnance bureau of the navy has taken under consideration the alteration of the bombs used in aerial operations so as to increase the certainty of their exploding.

Sec. Daniels said yesterday that a low percentage of bombs which fail to explode has been discovered in the navy's tests.

Percentage of Failures Small

Reports on file here show that the United States has met with a much lower percentage of failures than any of the allied nations.

The great obstacles met by ordnance experts in attaining efficiency in aerial bombs is the necessity of maintaining a factor of safety for the protection of the aviator. Absolute certainty of explosion could be easily had, but it would be accompanied by great danger of accidental detonation before the bomb was released.

It was explained that the naval inquiry is not intended so much to determine the failure of the aviators to damage the submarine off Orleans, Mass., as to make certain that the store of projectiles is ready for efficient service.

It is found definitely that one of the two bombs dropped Sunday struck so far from the target that it would not have damaged the submersible had an explosion occurred. No information is available as to the accuracy obtained in the second attempt.

Depth Bombs Prove Effective

In connection with the inquiry into naval aerial ammunition it became known yesterday that reports to the department show that fine results are being obtained in the use of the depth bomb, originated and perfected by the American navy. The assertion has been heard in well-informed quarters that this weapon is second to none in effectiveness among those being used against the submarine.

American destroyers in using the depth bomb employ the bracketing process. Dashing to the spot where evidence of a submarine has been seen, one bomb is dropped immediately over it, and at the same time catapults hurl other bombs 100 feet to the front, rear and to each side.

The enemy thus generally is caught in the area of detonation, regardless of how he shifts his course. It is said that the percentage of hits has increased greatly since this procedure was adopted.

AMERICAN TROOPS IN BITTER FIGHTING

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, Tuesday, July 23.—(By the Associated Press)—American troops participated in some of the heaviest fighting today in the vicinity of Epieds and Trugny, where give and take struggles continued throughout the day. At the end of the day, the Americans had advanced some distance in the neighborhood of Barbillion wood.

Along the Marne, the allied bridgeheads gradually are spreading out as the Germans are pushed back, while the fears by the enemy regarding the future are indicated by the constant burning of depots and ammunition and supply dumps everywhere within the pocket.

Many farms in the region of Barbillion wood had been thoroughly organized for defense by the enemy, but they fell before the Franco-American onslaught.

On the other wing of the German salient, around Virgny, southwest of Rheims, the battle kept up throughout the morning and afternoon. The British and French co-operated and advanced an average of a kilometre against stubborn German resistance.

The British took 300 additional prisoners, making their total 1100 in three days of fighting.

AMERICANS RETAKE

TRUGNY IN COUNTER ATTACK

LONDON, July 24.—There was fierce fighting Tuesday between the Americans and the Germans along the crests northeast of Chateau-Thierry, says a despatch from Reuter's correspondent on the French front. In the morning the enemy retook Epieds and the hamlet of Trugny, a mile to the south. The Americans counter attacked and re-entered Trugny and continued to press back the Germans, who still held Epieds when the despatch was filed.

In the region between Mont St. Pierre and Cherteville, the French and Americans pushed forward two miles, capturing a number of fortified farms. The Americans completed their occupation of the Barbillion wood.

ABUSE OF RED CROSS NAME

The abuse of the Red Cross name by unauthorized and unscrupulous persons seeking to lure young women from home by false promises of nursing service has become so dangerous in and about Boston that Red Cross officers feel called upon to again issue warning to the public.

"The pretext has been used even to the extent of white slavery," says Miss Elizabeth Ross, director of the Bureau of Nursing of the New England Division. "Only yesterday there came to headquarters two girls who asked for nursing information, saying that they had been promised, by an alleged physician, Red Cross service abroad after only a few months of training. They were to go back to his office," they said. Almost by accident they came to Red Cross offices, thinking it best to make some inquiries there. They were quickly informed of the fraud and saved from possible disaster. It is easy to appreciate the awful possibilities of such criminal deception unless full warning is given to all young women hoping to enter the Red Cross service."

It should be first of all distinctly understood that Red Cross nurses are fully graduated nurses, accepted only after the most careful investigation, both by the Red Cross and the government itself. They must be enrolled and certified and their loyalty to the United States must be investigated and vouched for. Passports are granted by the Washington authorities only after the most careful inspection. They are then mobilized and sent abroad from one or two stations—in and about New York—where they receive equipment and final instructions. The whole process takes several weeks.

It is not possible for anyone not authorized by the Red Cross to offer positions, or in any way to take part in training and enrollment. Thorough knowledge of these simple facts not only by the applicants themselves, but their relatives and friends, may save much trouble and the possibility of something worse.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Note—Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

A good comedy is "Ruggles of Red Gap," which is being shown at the B. F. Keith theatre, this evening, for the final time. Taylor Holmes, a versatile comedian; Lawrence D'Orsay, a stand-by of the legitimate stage, and Theodore Burton, also a good character actor, have the leading roles in this very funny Harry Leon Wilson story. The theatre is delightfully cool, due to the modern ventilating devices which are there installed. "The Painted Lily," the second feature, has beautiful Alma Rubens in the leading part. The Hearst-Pathe News pictures are also very interesting.

THE STRAND

This afternoon and tonight's performances offer the last opportunity of seeing Emily Stevens in "A Man's World," and Jane Elvidge and George McQuarrie in "Joan of the Woods." Both are commendable photo-dramas and worthy of favorable consideration by patrons who favor superior motion picture entertainment. The allied war pictures, the Pathé Weekly and a Vitaphone comedy also help make the bill exceptional. Miss Vera, Maeddy, the Lowell girl, who is the week's sensation, is making a big hit in her song numbers, while Arthur J. Martel is also good in his overture selections. Beginning tomorrow and continuing for the remainder of the week George Walsh in "The Kid is Clever," and Antonio Moreno and Dorinda in "The Naughty Lady," by Rudyard Kipling and Wolcott Balliol. Don't miss them.

MATRIMONIAL

Ashton—Stancombe

A pretty marriage took place in Dunstable recently when Miss Ida May Stancombe of Dunstable was wedded to Mr. Stephen Ashton of Lowell. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents on the Nashua road, Rev. N. W. Matthews of Lowell and Rev. Leo Ashton of Lawrence, brother of the bridegroom, uniting the happy couple in marriage. Mr. Andrew Stancombe, the bride's brother, acted as best man, while Miss Ethel Ashton, sister of the bridegroom, attended the bride. Wilfrid Booth furnished music for the occasion. Following the ceremony a dinner was served to many friends and relatives from Dunstable, Lowell, Lawrence and Nashua. Mr. and Mrs. Ashton will go on a wedding tour to Old Orchard and the coast, after which they will make their home in Lowell.

Kasino tonight, following the exhibition by Mr. Duggan and Miss Dorothy Luce of New York. Lowell dancers are thus sure of a fine prize, and also sure of expert judgment of their work. Mr. Duggan and Miss Luce are among the finest dancers on the waxen surface in America today.

LAKEVIEW PARK

For a genuinely amazing 15 minutes, 50 to Lakeview park this week, any afternoon or evening, and see the Kiku Japs, a family of wonder workers. Walking on the keen edge of Samurai swords, flying huge American flags out of practically nothing, this is part of what they do. And don't forget the dancing. There's not one city dance hall that has the free, open spaces that Lakeview has. Box of candy or sofa pillow to the best woman bowler tonight.

A large turtle was captured the other day by a Berkshire county woman who had it killed and then made turtle soup. As members of the family did not care for this high-class food, it was fed to a young pig.

PAPER MILLS ARE CLOSED BY STRIKES

RUMFORD, Me., July 24.—The employees of the International Paper Co.'s mill here, numbering about 750, struck today in response to orders from the International Brotherhood of Paper Mill Workers, and the mill was shut down. Less than 100 in various departments of the mill remained on duty.

Fear Strike Will Spread

NEW YORK, July 24.—Officials of the International Paper Co. expressed fear today that a strike of paper makers, firemen and other workers which had enforced closing of the Glens Falls, Fort Edward, Corinth and Ticonderoga, N. Y., and Rumford, Me., mills, might spread to the 15 other plants of the corporation, tying up the entire industry. Such a development, it was stated, would seriously curtail the operations of a large percentage of American newspapers.

It was stated that in the four New York mills 1500 men walked out yesterday, throwing into idleness 500 other employees. The strikers accused the company of violating a wage-fixing order of the war labor board, made in June when a general walkout of papermakers throughout the United States and Canada was threatened. The board awarded the workers a general wage advance approximating 20 per cent, which the company claims was to take the place of all bonuses. At that time a 10 per cent bonus was in effect, and the paper mill workers insist, the officials say, that this should stand in addition to the increase.

The company, according to its officials, offered to submit the difference to the war labor board for a special ruling, but the employees refused to co-operate in this course. It was asserted at the general offices of the company that the closing of the four mills had curtailed its production 33 per cent.

O. M. I. CADETS LEAVING FOR THEIR ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT AT MILLIGAN'S GROVE.

O.M.I. CADETS IN CAMP AT MILLIGAN'S GROVE

Milligan's grove at Silver Lake has been captured—but not by the Germans. The O.M.I. Cadets marched in Monday and took possession without even a skirmish. Maj. Joseph Boyd, Jr., was the commanding officer of the expedition—and he has proclaimed that his force will remain there for one week.

The Cadets have laid out a military camp which equals the best of them. To the right of the grove is the company street, with its orderly rows of tents, each with a small trench running round it to carry off any showers that may put in an appearance. The hospital, commissary, cooks' tents, etc., have been erected conveniently near the centre of operations, making a total of 23 tents in use. The large mess tables, which are much in demand three times a day, are also set up in the central part of the grounds.

Four companies, besides the drum corps of 20 pieces, are represented, with the ever popular Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., as chaplain, and "Mar" McCann playing the part of physical director and swimming instructor. The boys are getting a touch of real army life this summer. Their banks consist of a little hay and two blankets. They sleep eight to a tent, and Major Boyd has his hands full in making some of his young soldiers remember that "taps" is synonymous with quiet. The cooking, of course, is done out of doors, and a newly driven well provides some of the finest "Adam's ale" on tap.

Thursday is to be the big day of the week, the forenoon being set aside for a sham battle for the possession of the camps, one force fighting on the offensive and the other on the defensive. The afternoon will bring an athletic contest under the supervision of "Mar" McCann. Some valuable prizes have been donated for these events by local clothing stores. A prize drill, company and individual, will also be a feature of the afternoon, with suitable medals for the winners.

The hospital unit, composed of Mrs. Jeremiah Dooley and Miss Elizabeth Dooley, reported everything O.K. so far, except for a few minor cases, which had been successfully treated. The commissary department, Chief McKenzie and his assistant, John O'Connell, declare they are the busiest pair in the camp, but when the cadets begin telling what a wonderful dinner they had, the cooks are satisfied with the work again.

The daily program for the week follows: 6.45, reveille; 7.15, morning prayer and setting-up exercises; 7.30, assembly is sounded on the company street, and an orderly march is made to the breakfast table; 8.30, police duty, or cleaning up the grounds; 9-11, drill. The complete manual of arms is run off under the direction of Major Boyd, and Lieut. Joseph M. Reilly of Camp Devens puts the boys through a series of modern war maneuvers. 11.15, swimming. "Mar" McCann leads his followers over to Silver Lake and from then until noon it is one big splash. The beach is very good, being shallow and firm, and what few boys are not already proficient as swimmers are rapidly becoming so under Mr. McCann's skilful coaching. 12.00, dinner. Yesterday it was Irish stew with all the "fixins," and if that stew was originated in Ireland, well, small wonder that they prize the "old country." After dinner a general program of sports are enjoyed, ball games being one of the many features, which include boxing, wrestling, and races of all kinds. 4.30, dress parade and evening prayer. The boys have to be on their toes at this event, as Major Boyd and Chaplain Sullivan have sharp eyes. 6.00, supper; 8.30, camp fire and entertainment, including selections by the Cadet drum corps, under the leadership of Capt. Joe Wedge and Lieut. Richard O'Shea. 9.15, call to quarters; 9.30, taps.

There are nearly 200 boys in camp at present, with a few late arrivals still expected, ranging in age from 12 to 18. The higher officers, also the hospital unit, are provided with "regular" bunk beds, and no doubt appreciate this distinction. Major Boyd, who is a very young major, having only just turned nineteen, spoke very highly of the boys' conduct at camp, and said he expected it would be a very successful and joyous week for all concerned.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

James J. Gallagher, chairman of exemption board, division 4, is in receipt of a telegram stating that General Crowder has issued a new order to the effect that until further notice no certificates will be granted for enlistment to any registrant who has been or will be classified in class 1.

gathered there and reminded one of the scene when Co. M returned from the border several years ago. A few tearful eyes were intermingled with the smiles of those mothers, sisters and sweethearts who were bound to send their loved ones "away with smiles" despite the provocation for crying.

The train pulled out with cheers resounding on every side and once more Lowell had answered generously the call of the nation.

Upon reaching Camp Devens the men were assigned to the Depot Brigade and will stay in this unit several weeks.

WORCESTER AVIATOR IS MISSING IN FRANCE

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, July 24.—By the Associated Press) Lieut. Warren T. Hobbs of Worcester, Mass., a member of the Lafayette flying squadron, is officially reported as missing since July 17, following air fight.

A despatch from correspondents headquarters of the American in France on Monday, July 8, stated that Lieut. Hobbs had been killed on June 26, when he was forced to fly low because of engine trouble and had been brought down by anti-aircraft guns.

RAIDS CARRIED OUT BY THE BRITISH

LONDON, July 24.—Raids were carried out by British troops last night in the region south of Buquoy and northwest of Albert, says today's war office report. A few prisoners were taken. A German attack on the British lines northeast of Bethune, on the Flanders front, was repulsed.

German Papers Fear General Foch Has Gained Upper Hand in the West

Say American Troops Are Big Factor In Advance of the Allied Forces

WASHINGTON, July 23.—An official despatch yesterday from Switzerland says the German newspapers not only admit that the German offensive has failed, but express the fear that Gen. Foch has built up an army of reserves that will enable him to wrest the offensive from the German high command.

The Frankfurter Zeitung asserts that the entire strategic plan of Hindenburg is compromised by the attack on the Aisne-Marne front.

"Something new appears in the strategic situation," says this paper. "Gen. Foch has been able to form an important army of reserves. Foch's attack aims to deal a blow in the back of Boehm's army and should it be successful it might compel his army to retreat under most unfavorable conditions."

"Foch's attack threatens the whole of Hindenburg's plan," says the paper. "The Strassburger Post says the public had in general attached too great hopes to the German offensive at Rheims, and asks:

"From where do these troops come that the American transports have really brought more quickly than they were expected?"

The Munchener Neueste Nachrichten says France is still very strong, that America has more than half a million soldiers in France, and that the English army has been reconstructed and put into a perfect state. It adds that it will take weeks perhaps to wrest the initiative from Gen. Foch.

The Koelnische Volk-Zeitung says the fact must no longer be hidden that German deserters have made use of their knowledge of the plans of operations to betray their country.

ADMIT BIG AMERICAN

FORCES IN BATTLE

AMSTERDAM, July 23.—The German public is being told by all the German military experts that the French and American "ambitious attempt to break through" which, in Baron von Ardenne's words, "might have caused a decisive change in the military situation on the west front" has failed because of the famous German system of an elastic defense.

It is explained that the enemy only obtained initial successes due to the fact that Gen. von Boehm's right flank of 25 miles was not strongly held and his main strength lay on the eastern flank. Significantly, however, is Baron von Ardenne's admission that Chateau-Thierry and Soissons were the two corner stones of the German defense and that the former had been lost to the foe, "who was aided by not inconsiderable American auxiliary forces."

The Wolff bureau's correspondent at the front does not fail to dwell on the "excessively severe" losses suffered by the Americans. These losses, he says, were due to the Americans being mixed for the first time with "savages and niggers" instead of with white French troops as heretofore. He said "at many points mountains of American dead lay in front of our positions."

The Cologne Gazette's war correspondent says that never before had the variegated enemy nationalities presented a more solid and compact front. "The present clash of hostile forces," he adds, "is the most gigantic and terrible conflict of mental and physical energy ever seen. There is no room for platitudes. Now begins the final phase of the war."

He asks the people at home to "follow the development of this stupendous struggle with the gravest attention for the enemy is now challenging us to put forth our very utmost efforts."

Other German writers "exhort the German people to remember von Hindenburg's appeal for patience and his declaration that the battle plans must be allowed time to mature. A favorite assertion is that the enemy forces have been sensibly weakened and that von Hindenburg and Ludendorff will not allow the initiative to be wrested from their hands."

BACK FROM FRANCE

North Billerica Boy Returning from Battle Front Is in Hospital at Newport News

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Buckley of Talbot avenue, North Billerica have received a telegram, stating that their son, Private Charles L. Buckley, who went to France with an American regiment soon after this country entered the war, is now in a hospital at Newport News, Va. A letter was received from him several weeks ago in which he said that he was on his way home and that he might reach home before the letter arrived here. Consequently his parents have been expecting him every day since that time, but nothing had been heard from him until the telegram reached here yesterday.

Although not included in the list of Lowell men who went to Camp Devens this morning as announced by the local exemption board, one of the most popular young men of the city, Michael T. Hennessy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hennessy, of 338 Fletcher street, was among the Lowell boys who answered the call of the national army. He went to the cantonment with the Haverhill delegation owing to the fact that he registered in that city.

Mr. Hennessy has been employed recently as a bookkeeper for the Cudahy Packing Co. of this city, but was previously in the employ of the Bay State Street Railway Co. and was stationed at Haverhill. He is a prominent member of St. Patrick's parish and well known throughout the city.

Like many other men called for the national army, he had previously attempted to volunteer for the naval service, but despite persistent efforts, was not accepted.

SLEPT ON COMMON

Monday night, the statisticians say, over 1500 people slept on the South and North commons, with the result that yesterday Supt. Kernan had a gang of men busily engaged in cleaning them up. A great deal of paper and rubbish was removed during the day.

BRITISH STRIKERS DEFY THE GOVERNMENT

LONDON, July 24.—The trades union advisory committee has been summoned by the ministry of munitions to a conference Thursday, to discuss the labor troubles at Coventry and the general labor position. How far the union officials will be able to influence the situation is impossible to say.

According to several reports from Coventry in the morning newspapers, the strikers are not only defying the government, but also the trades union leaders and have overthrown their local leaders. The number of men involved is from 9000 to 12,000, variously reported as 25 to 50 per cent of Coventry's total of munition workers.

Some reports are to the effect that the strikers are nearly all young men of military age who took refuge in the engineering trade from conscription earlier in the war and, it is said, are reported ready to go to any lengths to evade active service. On the other hand, one of the main causes of discontent is said to be the fact that semi-skilled youngsters who have acquired all the engineering knowledge they possess during the war, are earning much higher wages than the older skilled men because the youngsters are paid at piece rates, while the older men get time rates. This is said to be only one among a complexity of grievances which can be traced, according to some reports, to bureaucratic ineptitude.

$70,000 LOSS CAUSED BY FIRE IN FITCHBURG

FITCHBURG, July 23.—A fire, which broke out last night in the three-story brick building known as the "Mata," owned by George Freeman, burned the second and third stories and caused damage to the stock estimated at $50,000. The damage to the building will be about $20,000, which is partly covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered when flames broke through the third story. Shortly afterward an explosion took place and several of the windows were blown out. The interior of the third story was a mass of flames when the fire department arrived.

Volumes of heavy smoke poured from the structure, and the firemen experienced great difficulty in checking the blaze, which threatened the Simonds saw plant and the Universal Theatre block adjoining.

Ernest A. Stoll, a fireman, came in contact with a live electric wire and received a severe shock. He was removed to his home.

The fire was under control at 11 o'clock. The cause is unknown, but it is believed to have been due to spontaneous combustion.

The first floor was occupied by Frank G. Webster, furniture dealer; Carl G. Jensen, bakery; Arthur W. Pierce, shoes; A. G. Gruener, hardware, and Arthur W. Fairbanks, drug-gist. The H. M. Downes Printing company occupied the second floor. There were also offices. Frank G. Perry also occupied part of the second and third stories for storage purposes.

The heavy loss by water was confined to the stock of A. G. Gruener, Carl G. Jensen, Arthur W. Pierce and Frank G. Perry, the latter loss being placed at $25,000. The Fitchburg band lost a valuable library of music, valued at $1000, covered by insurance.

The cause of the fire will be investigated.

MAN WHO DIED IN PAWTUCKET, R. I., BELIEVED TO HAVE WORKED HERE

The local police received a telegram from Pawtucket, R. I., last night, stating that James Speak, aged 76, had died at the Memorial hospital in that city. A pay envelope with "Lowell, Mass.," marked upon it was found in the man's pocket and this created the belief that he had been employed in munitions work in this city. The telegram asks the police to locate his relatives.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE ALUMNI

Owing to the heat the attendance at last evening's meeting of the members of St. Joseph's college alumni was not very large, but nevertheless plans for the annual outing to be held on Thursday, Aug. 8 were formed and other business was transacted. President John B. Richard occupied the chair and new members were initiated. It was announced that a feature of the outing will be a baseball game between two fast teams of the organization, while other sporting events will be conducted at the outing. The nomination of officers, which was scheduled to be held last evening, was postponed until the day of the outing the election to be held later.

BURGLARS ARRESTED IN BOSTON ADMIT STORE BREAK IN TEWKSBURY

Frank Carroll, Elmer Freeman and a third young man named Blake, who were arrested in Boston for breaking into the premises numbered 1494 Washington street, Boston, admitted to the police claim to be breaking and entering the store of Louis H. Farmer in Tewksbury Centre last week and having stolen cigars and cigarettes. Freeman and Blake had revolvers in their possession when arrested, while Carroll also admitted having had one, but he said he pawned it. The young men were arrested in a suite in the South End, Boston. Their cases were continued for a week.

HEAT WAVE BROKEN

BOSTON, July 24.—The heat wave which has been over New England several days, causing scores of prostrations and several deaths, was broken today by a shift of the wind to the east and an overcast sky. Although the temperature dropped to 74 degrees in this city at noon, a number of prostrations were reported.

Fresh Beef Travels on a Rapid Schedule

Fresh beef for domestic markets goes from stockyards to retail stores within a period of about two weeks. Although chilled, this meat is not frozen; hence it cannot be stored for a rise in price.

A steer is dressed usually within twenty-four hours after purchase by the packer. The beef is held in a cooler at the packing house, at a temperature a little above freezing, for about three days.

It is then loaded into a refrigerator car, where a similar temperature is maintained, and is in transit to market on an average of about six days.

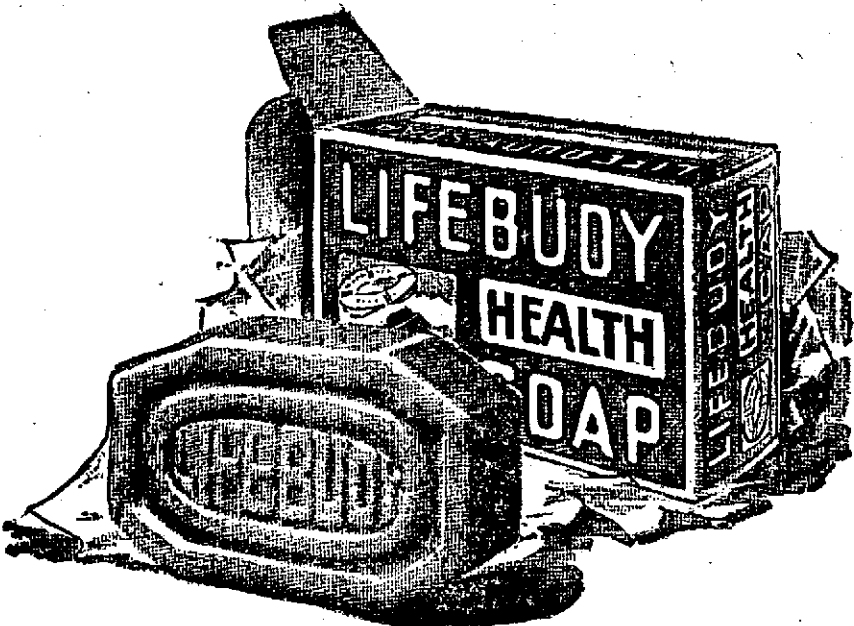

Upon arrival at the branch distributing house, it is unloaded into a "cooler", and placed on sale.

Swift & Company requires all beef to be sold during the week of arrival, and the average of sales is within five days.

Any delay along the above journey means deterioration in the meat and loss to the packer.

What happens when you wash?

We all use soap—do you know why?

We all know that water alone will not remove dirt, but how does soap do it?

The moment soap and water come into contact with the skin, soap separates into two parts.

One part dissolves and absorbs the impurities in the pores. The other part forms a lather which takes up these impurities, together with dirt and dust, and carries them off into the water.

A new standard for cleansing—antiseptic cleanliness

The skin contains millions of open mouths. Through these mouths the skin filters out perspiration at the rate of a quart every twenty-four hours. In this perspiration are acids and waste matter from the system. These, together with excess oils from the skin, are constantly accumulating on the face, hands and body, and gathering up dust and impurities.

It was the necessity of really cleansing the pores of the skin—keeping them antiseptically clean—that gave the biggest soap makers in the world the idea of making a health soap.

Purifies every pore—keeps the skin clear and healthy

At the same time, the healthful antiseptic which

Lifebuoy contains is carried right into the pores of the skin. This purifies the skin—leaves it antiseptically clean. It counteracts the effects of acids and impurities that keep accumulating on the skin, prevents skin irritations, keeps skin clear, lovely, glowing with health!

The odor tells you why

The "health" odor in Lifebuoy is found in no other soap. It is not a perfume—not the odor of a medicine—but a pure, hygienic odor that tells you instantly why the soap benefits your skin. Stimulating, invigorating, refreshing! One whiff of Lifebuoy, and you realize why it cleanses so thoroughly—why it purifies and protects—why it improves your skin.

Get a cake of Lifebuoy at any grocery or drug store. Start using it today for your face—hands—bath—and watch your skin improve.

Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

"I thoroughly enjoy Lifebuoy—it gives the skin the protection everyone needs."

SEVERE CONDEMNATION OF STATE PRISON

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 24.—

Severe condemnation of the state prison at Charlestown is contained in a report of the Massachusetts bureau of prisons, made public today. The members of the bureau also take occasion to criticize the practice of the courts in sending old and hardened criminals to the Massachusetts reformatory to mingle with young boys.

"From the standpoint of physical equipment," the bureau says, "the state prison, a product of the eighteenth century, may be classed as one of the worst prisons for the incarceration of felons in the United States. It is to be borne in mind that no person

—a period long enough to permit of the physical deterioration of prisoners under unhealthful conditions. For the most part, the cells are small, without sanitary closets, and in many instances without any means of ventilation other than the grated floors. It is in these cells that the inmates pass an average of sixteen hours out of every twenty-four. Since there is no dining room at this institution the men are obliged to eat in these foul-smelling rooms.

"The recreation yard at the prison is 140 feet long by 130 feet wide, and within this limited space six hundred men are expected to get the needed recreation in the open three hours each week. There is no farm land connected with the prison on which men unfit for indoor work may be employed, and with the exception of the few men employed in the care of the buildings, all of the inmates, whether fitted or not for industrial work, are employed in the shops.

"For a long time there was hope that the commonwealth would authorize the construction of a new prison, and nothing was done to modernize or improve the old plant. During the past few years conditions have become so bad that necessary improvements were necessary in order that the institution may properly function and fulfill its duty to the man committed to its care."

Relative to the Massachusetts reformatory, the bureau says:—"As its name indicates, this institution was established for the purpose of effecting the reformation of young men who had not become confirmed in the ways of crime. It is to be regretted that its purpose is apparently disregarded by the judges. There is too little care taken by the courts in sentencing men to this institution, with the result that young boys are thrown together with men between thirty and forty years of age, some of whom have served sentences in county institutions and in not a few instances in state prisons outside of Massachusetts."

SEVERE CONDEMNATION OF STATE PRISON

(Special to The Sun)

Severe condemnation of the state prison at Charlestown is contained in a report of the Massachusetts bureau of

The Germans have changed their minds in regard to the number of Americans now in France. Formerly they discredited the story that one million Americans had reached France, stating that the total number could not be more than 300,000. Now they aver that instead of one million Americans being in France, there must be ten million. The Germans have evidently been impressed by the American method of fighting. In other words, they have had a taste of good American steel.

REPUBLICAN NON-PARTISANSHIP

Some republican papers put on a transparent pretense of getting away from partisan politics. Among these are the Boston Transcript and Boston Herald, both of which are quite willing that in strong democratic districts all opposition should be withdrawn. Thus, for example, the Transcript is willing to allow Congressman Gallivan and Teague, two Democrats, to be re-nominated and elected without opposition. This is in line with an announcement made by some republican leaders who wish to conserve all the party's energy and all its funds for contests in which republican candidates will have a fighting chance of success. This is what they call "the elimination of partisanship" in politics.

In return for this compliment the same papers suggest that the Democrats withdraw all opposition against certain republican candidates in doubtful districts. Thus the object of their proposition is revealed. We may expect the leopard to change his spots and the Boston Transcript will put aside its political partisanship.

THE U-BOATS

The visit of the U-boats to the New England coast and their spectacular exploits in sinking a few barges is intended to create a scare for the purpose of discouraging Americans. In this the enemy will be woefully disappointed. The Americans will not run away from this frightfulness. Rather will they run after it and keep up their search until they finally clear the U-boats from eastern waters.

The U-boat did not condescend to recognize the formality of allowing the crews of the sunken vessel an opportunity to escape. That would not savor sufficiently of the real character of German frightfulness.

The Germans are undoubtedly planning to get some of our American transports loaded with troops. In that they have not thus far succeeded, thanks to the vigilance of the convoys provided for these troop ships.

We have proof now, that submarines are operating along the American coast, and every effort must be made to get them. The fogs that occasionally settle down along the New England coast are very favorable to the operations of the U-boats. Just at present, however, the weather is clear and there is but slight chance of any heavy fog, at least for some weeks perhaps.

We have a long coast line and the sea lanes are hard to protect against these unseen marauders. But this very fact must add to the extent of the precautions adopted to defeat their activity and finally bag them.

GERMAN FRIGHTFULNESS

In the early days of the war the Hun machine cast itself against British colonial with great desperation and with the hope of destroying the morale of the men at the front and that of the people at home. Some of these drives were conceived and carried out against Canadians and Australians with all the frightfulness that even the Hun ingenuity could invent. The gas attacks were first directed against the Canadians when the latter were wholly unprepared to meet that form of warfare. The results, however serious, only stirred the people to greater determination to meet them. As a result greater armies were sent to the front and the men were equipped with gas masks and every other appliance necessary for their protection.

The Huns apparently are trying the same methods on the American troops, but they have had very poor success. The Americans have simply dashed through the German forces wherever they meet them, with the result that instead of the Americans fearing the Germans, the Germans are now in real terror of the Americans. The splendid work of our American soldiers must have inspired every true American to back them up every way possible, and particularly to keep the essential industries moving so that all necessary equipment may be provided for our armies now so nobly fighting for world freedom and sweeping the German hordes back to the Rhine. Thus will German frightfulness eventually prove the undoing of its authors. The Prussian junkers in their ruthless war policy and insatiable ambition, have been sowing the traditional dragon's teeth which will ultimately rise up as armed men to accomplish their destruction.

TEACH CHILDREN TO SWIM

In view of the numerous drownings in the course of the summer months, it is pertinent to suggest that every man, woman and child in this land should be able to swim. As a safeguard against drowning accidents that are very common, it should be required that every child leaving school shall be able to swim. Indeed we believe that this should be made a condition of graduation at our grammar schools. Such compulsion would make it imperative upon the city to conduct a swimming school at which all the children could learn enough of the art for all practical purposes. Soldiers in the army in emergencies may save their lives by being fairly good swimmers. In recent battles spanning the Marne and other rivers in France many soldiers on both sides found it necessary to swim across the rivers either to save their lives or to gain some point of vantage in their campaign.

When a ship is torpedoed on the high seas and the crew and passengers are obliged perhaps to jump into the sea, unless they can swim at least for a short time, their chances of rescue are simply negligible. In such cases the good swimmer can generally get hold of a raft or some fragment of wreckage that will aid him in keeping above water until relief arrives.

But it is in childhood that the art is most necessary in saving life. Boys and sometimes girls also, will persist in playing around canals, rivers and lakes and bathing therein in hot weather with the result that many of them get drowned if they cannot swim.

The late Harry W. J. Howe took the trouble to count the drownings in our local waterways—the canals and rivers—and roughly estimated that the victims all told number 1000. They have averaged about one per month in the past dozen years and despite the life saving apparatus, up to last year the number had not been reduced. This year the swimming place up the river, and the wading pool on the South common has kept many away from the dangerous places and undoubtedly has saved lives. The ice park off Rogers street has also prevented drownings in the winter. It is well to increase these public utilities which keep young people away from the rivers and canals; but while these are to be encouraged, still it is better by far as a safeguard against drowning to teach all the children to swim.

AN APPEAL TO LOYALTY

The National Service section of the Emergency Fleet corporation has started a campaign to offset the insidious propaganda that promotes strikes in factories in which government work is being done. This incentive of honest labor to go into voluntary idleness is the only form of propaganda left in which enemy aliens can keep up their disloyal work under the safe disguise of standing for the rights of labor.

The government realizes that the factory workers all over this country are honest and patriotic as a class; but here and there mixing with them there is an avowed enemy of our government, a member of the I.W.W., an alien in the service of Germany who may be well paid for fomenting discord among operatives employed on government orders, persuading them that they should receive higher wages and enjoy better working conditions. Other forms of propaganda are easily proved by evidence that will convict, but this is very difficult to prove. For that reason the government has instituted this campaign in order that all the factory operatives may be duly warned of any of these insidious workers in their midst and thus enabled to avoid being drawn into schemes which are well planned to aid the enemy. All kinds of people are employed at the various factories. It is impossible to test the loyalty of all, but if all the loyal operatives are constituted as so many detectives on those who may be guilty of disloyal acts, the culprits will soon be found out and punished.

Hence able speakers, who have seen years of service in the war, have been sent out to address the employees of great factories where government orders are in hand. They visualize for these people the actual horrors of war, although still reserving much that they cannot tell, for every soldier who leaves the trenches is pledged not to tell all he saw.

There are things so terrible in war as to make the average person shudder to hear them described. Better, therefore, to avoid such narratives and deal only with the great issues involved, the splendid work of our men and the absolute necessity of keeping up the supply of ammunition and equipment, not only for our armies but for those of our allies.

Imagine the disaster that would result if in the great turning movement now being conducted by General Foch, the supply of food or of ammunition should run short!

Never before was any army transported across the ocean with half the speed with which our troops have been taken through the zones infested with submarines. While the troops were being thus secretly dispatched to the seat of war, the demand for supplies and equipment of all kinds was incessant and persistent. The employees of the munition factories were not notified of these demands. They only noticed a speeding up all over the factory and not realizing the cause, some were apt to think the management of the shop was pushing things with a high hand.

Since hearing from the speakers who have addressed them, the munition and factory workers now understand the situation; they know that the speeding in due to the urgent demand of the government for more ammunition, more guns, more ships, more food, more clothing, more of everything our soldiers need in fighting the greatest war ever waged in a manner that has brought fresh glory to our army and to our republic.

It is well that such men as Captain Cameron and Corporal Street have come here to explain the situation to all of us, so that whether in the factory or the home we may discharge our full duty to the nation more cheerfully and avoid anything that might hinder the stupendous work of prosecuting this war for world freedom.

SEEN AND HEARD

Well, at least the weather man was patriotic enough to give those German U-boats off the coast a hot reception.

Wonder why the municipal council had to start discussing 120-pound pressure boilers on a morning when it was 90 in the shade.

We know that this is old stuff but still it has a lot of cooling atmosphere about it. Here goes: How would you like to be the leonard now?

A flash of lightning in the black sky, a clap of thunder from the hands of Jove—and one more perfectly good bed receives a shivering occupant!

Abutting on the Highway

A resident of a rural town owned a goat which was a very intelligent animal. As it had a great habit of suddenly coming up behind the unwary, it failed to win the good will of the neighbors, who at last decided to consult the borough officials.

A few days later the owner was served with a notice that he must pay 50 cents assessment tax on the animal, which he promptly refused, and demanded to know under what statute a goat could be assessed. The by-laws were hunted up and sure enough the provision was there. By-law 12, subsection 2: "Anything abutting on the highway," etc.—Rehearsing Sunday Herald.

Have You Ever Noticed

Have you ever noticed the butterfly Go soaring through the air, Or the dainty little blue-bell With its fragrance sweet and rare?

Have you ever noticed the busy bee As he goes buzzing by, Or the little robin red breast While he learns to fly?

Have you ever noticed the daisy When she nods her head, Or the ivy in the Autumn When its leaves have all turned red?

Have you ever noticed the little brook Go busily flowing by, Or the beautiful clouds of blue and gold That float up in the sky?

And have you ever noticed The pretty little dove? Well then, you must have noticed God tends them all with love.

Old Suggestion Renewed

The proposition to generate electric power in the basement of city hall to light the municipal building, Memorial building, the high school and the Green grammar school, which was introduced by Commissioner Warnock at Monday's meeting of the municipal council brought to the minds of the old timers a similar proposition brought up by Mayor James A. Bennett in 1895. At that time Mayor Bennett advocated the taking over of the Coburn estate at Tilden and Merrimack streets and installing there a plant which would heat and light several municipal buildings including city hall, the high school and Memorial hall. The estate in question might have been bought for a song at the time but the rest of the city government couldn't see the idea, so the matter was at a standstill until the present emergency in the question of heating city hall gave it a renaissance.

German Viewpoint

Here is a sample of what all the Hun, the conceit that smells to the skies, Baron von Stengel talking to himself:

We Germans have been chosen by Providence from among all the other people to march at the head of all civilized nations and lead them under our protection toward assured peace.

For we not only have the power and force necessary for this mission, but we also possess all the spiritual gifts to the highest degree, and in all creation it is we who constitute the crown of civilization.

The nations have only one means of leading a profitable existence. It is to submit to our guidance, which is superior from every point of view.—Pittsburg Post.

Only Thing to Do

George Washington Jones, late of Atlanta, was making his first trip forward on a supply wagon—with not much farther to go—when, from the side of the road, a camouflaged American battery broke forth thunderously, sending a few 300-pound tokens over the line to Fritz. The ground trembled from the salvo, but not any more than George, as he jumped from the high seat to the road.

The American artillery officer in charge of the battery crossed over to the road.

"Scared?" he demanded. "Well," George said, "Ah was slightly agitated at first. Ah suddenly was. But keep right on. Dat's the only way to win this wah—fah dem guns!"—Stars and Stripes.

His Concealed Whisk

Two men were seated at a table in a saloon, one of them annoying the other customers by his maudlin attempts to sing something that had a strong German air, although the words were apparently English. The proprietor approached. "Cut out that singing in here," he remonstrated. "This ain't no amateur night for cabarets." The singer subsided and took another er drink, but his companion urged him to continue, expressing great admiration for the air.

"What do you mind the likes of him for?" he asked. "Sure, it's a fine song. Go ahead with it."

The resumption of the disjointed notes brought the proprietor to the table again.

"See here, you," he began, with a rap of his knuckles on the table, "out that singing right now, or I'll have you thrown out."

Standing not far off to be sure that the selection was not continued, the proprietor overheard the second man urging the singer to go ahead and after another drink the song was resumed. Stepping up to the table with fire in his eye the boss addressed himself to the second man.

"What do you keep asking him to sing for?" he demanded. "If you are so stuck on his singing take him somewhere else and listen to it all you like."

"Singing?" retorted the other. "I don't care about his singing. I want to see him thrown out."—New York Sun.

Made a Good Trade

A very interesting story came to light Sunday, when it was related that a very distinguished minister of the Methodist church, Dr. Plato Durham, had been held up on Thursday night by a young white man as he alighted from his car and started toward the place where he was stopping, he having just returned from a session of the state Sunday school convention at the First Methodist church.

The minister got out of the car, and as he walked half a block away and the car vanished he was confronted by a man who thrust a cocked pistol into his stomach and demanded that his hands go up.

"No, I won't raise my hands. But what do you want? There is no need to shoot; just tell me what you want and I will give you anything that I have," said Dr. Durham.

"I want money, and I need it badly, and I am going to have it," replied the highwayman, who was wearing a mask.

"Well, I have $5, a five and four ones, here," replied Dr. Durham, "and I will give you the four and I will keep the five, for I am a Methodist minister, and you know that we preachers don't have much money, so I think you ought to leave me the big end of it."

"Well, I'll be a—," replied the amateur road agent, "ain't this a business for a white man to be engaged in!"

"Why, this is a nigger's job; but I tell you I need the money, and I need it bad, so give me the five and keep the four ones."

"No; I think you ought to leave me the biggest pile, for I am hard up, to," replied the preacher; "so here are the four ones, and I will keep the five-spot," and he handed the nightman the four one-dollar notes.

"All right," said the unknown road agent; "but you won't report this to the police, will you?"

"No," replied Dr. Plato Durham, and he has up to this hour kept his word.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Carter of Hartford, Conn., at the last of a series of six open forum meetings held last evening in Room 1 of the high school before a small audience.

"Make Right?" He was introduced by Hugh J. Molloy and his address was, in part, as follows:

"This war is the most colossal thing, historically, that has ever happened in any of our experiences and in anything that we have read of. For once, we can't use superlatives to any unwarrantable degree. In spite of that, one of the chief things which I am concerned to say is that the war itself is only an incident in the progress of civilization which is the real issue of the present crisis.

"No matter how long we live, we are going to be fighting the issue of this war. Some people ask 'When is the war going to end?' It is not going to end in our generation as far as its essential issue is concerned.

"It is for us at home to build up a new civilization. Gunpowder never developed civilization! This war is going to wipe clean the slate of civilization. That is one of the direct results which is coming out of it. It's an issue on a world-wide scale.

"Does might make right? If we asked that four years ago, we would have been told that it would furnish an excellent theme for school children to write about or to discuss as an academic question in high school halls. But think of the change. Today it is no academic question. Germany has taken the affirmative.

"While the question of might is being worked out in Flanders a deeper question is being worked out at home:
Will our might, which may come to us after the war, make right? That is the question which has a bearing not only on Germany, but on a world policy.
Is there something supreme in this universe and is that 'something' right?

"World domination is a sentiment that has honeycombed the rules of thinking in all branches of German life. Its emissaries and exponents have been sent throughout the German empire. These sentiments are in the saddle today and indicate the path on which we must deal with the German people.

"What are some of the effects of a great moral law? We recognize such a term as right. In all our dealings with our fellow-men we must either turn to the right path or the wrong.
The moral law compels the decent man to take the right path. If he bows to this law, he becomes a bigger and richer man because his fellow-men bow under the same law.

"The moral law makes a man an asset to the community and makes the community an asset to the man. The most significant development in human history has been the development of the moral law. Our city, state and nation have learned the application of it, but civilization has balked. The sovereign state is the largest unit in civilization and that is the trouble.

Civilization has balked and one great sovereign state has taken the specious side of the question of might or right.

"It is heresy to mankind to admit the doctrine that might makes right and because it is so, it is for every man to insist that nations as well as individuals become subject to one standard because in that alone is the real hope of progress.

"There is no one among us today who has the ears of humanity as has our president. If we were to take away all the personality from his phrases, they would still stand out as historically important.

"These are not denigrations of discourse, but scars of international faith, stars for guidance. We must know of these sentiments expressed by our president simply that we may enthrone the superb ideas in the minds of humanity because they answer the question: 'Does might make right?'

"Right alone is, and must be, supreme in world affairs. If we are to live up to this doctrine, there's going to be a great transformation in the world.
We've come to the point where internationalism is the order of the day and if we are to play our part in that new order we must observe three fundamental principles. First, we must have a new spirit of diplomacy. We must come out in the open before the nations, lay our cards on the table and tell what we want. We must be willing to be instructed by other nations. We must take the world into our confidence regarding our ambitions.
We must take our part in the partnership of nations and furnish our share of the capital and not look for exclusive advantages.

"In the second place, there must be a new economic practice. Our leading business men must be apostles of the new law. We want men of the type who so readily left their business interests to go into war work, to be ready to throw themselves into the work of the future. It won't be Utopian idealism; there will be rivalry but it will be friendly rivalry and the spirit of competition will be yoked with the spirit of co-operation. I believe that an economic war after the present military struggle would be a greater calamity than the war has been.

"In the third place, we must deal politically with a new organization of nations. How shall we do it? A league to enforce peace? No, because we've got to have something higher than a police club behind the organization. An international court of appeal? No, we've got to get away from police court ideas. We must have a body so endowed with power that it can take the initiative to see where conflicts are liable to arise and to make preparation against them. We must have an international court, not of appeal, but of constructive power. To that our statesmen are called upon to address themselves and the power of

Abraham S. Goldman, local repre-

made the opening address, speaking on public influence which is in all of us

"A very pregnant statement has been made in connection with the war. It is: 'Every kaiser must go.' The kaiser lurks everywhere and we must be able to recognize him when we see him.
The kaiser in industry, the kaiser in labor and the kaiser in law must all go. From football to finance, the man who tries to outwit the umpire is a ic life we must maintain the principle that right must prevail."

At the conclusion of his address Dr.

tions. It was announced that the meeting was the final of the forum

The 10 boys were Sidney Greenberg, William Sydemann and William Rifken, who have enlisted in the U. S. navy;
William Korobken and Max Tutin, both

Henry Smith, G. William Carp, Israel
Carp and Abraham Cohen, for Camp
Devens.

Abraham S. Goldman, local representative of the Jewish Welfare board, made the opening address, speaking on public influence which is in all of us will also be called upon.

"A very pregnant statement has been made in connection with the war. It is: 'Every kaiser must go.' The kaiser lurks everywhere and we must be able to recognize him when we see him.
The kaiser in industry, the kaiser in labor and the kaiser in law must all
go. From football to finance, the man who tries to outwit the umpire is a kaiser and he must go. In our economic life we must maintain the principle
that right must prevail."

At the conclusion of his address Dr.
Carter answered a number of questions. It was announced that the meeting was the final of the forum series until further notice.

WORLD'S RECORD

Big Liners Shatter Records in Grand Circuit Races at Toledo

Single G. Captures Free-for-All in Hot Race With Miss
Harris M

TOLEDO, O., July 24.—World's records were shattered on the new one-mile track yesterday in the inaugural of Grand Circuit racing in Toledo. Miss Harris M. in the free-for-all race went the first mile in 1:58.4, the fastest mile ever covered by a pacing mare.

In the second heat of that event Edward F. Geers drove Single G. a mile in 1:59.4, giving that horse a new record. Single G. won the third heat and the race in 1:59.4, establishing a record for the fastest two paced heats.

In Miss Harris M.'s heat she traveled the first quarter in 20 seconds, the half in 59 seconds and the last quarter in 24.4 seconds.

Her feat was the second fastest mile ever paced in a race. Directum I, holding the record of 1:58 made at Columbus in 1914.

The quarter in 24.4 seconds by Miss Harris M. is probably the fastest quarter ever covered by a harness horse.

The second heat was the second time in his career that Geers has ridden a mile under two minutes.

William, the world champion pacer, took the lead in the first heat and held it to the stretch. He was unequal to the task and finished fourth.

In two of the other races the favorites won, while the talent was joined.

In the third heat, the talent was joined in the 2:36 trot, took the first and second heats, her time in the second being 2:04.4.

In the Sherwood cup for three-year-old trotters, Chestnut Peter, the colt Tommy Murphy sold last week for $25,000, won in straight heats with her former owner in the sulky.

Dagastan, the favorite in the 2:15 trot, finished third in the first heat and was defeated in the second. The race went to Tacita after Bonnie had won the first heat in 2:08.4.

Nearly 10,000 saw the races which were postponed from Monday on account of rain. The summary:

INVITE BALL PLAYERS

TO JOIN NAVY

GREAT LAKES, Ill., July 24.—Every big league baseball player in the country is to be invited to join the navy at once. Letters were prepared today by Ensign W. I. Denny, recruiting officer at the naval station here, under the direction of Captain William A. Moffett, commandant.

"We are asking them to join the navy because we want the best men we can get," Captain Moffett declared.

BRITT vs. BOYLE

In Main Bout

BOYLE HAS CHANCE TO

ANNEX N. E. TITLE

In athletics as in all other lines, a man cherishes an ambition to be a leader in his class. In baseball it is the desire of all players to be connected with a pennant winner or world's champion outfit, and many of the best stars at the national game have never had a chance to get into the big baseball classic. Nap Lejole, the famous second baseman for the old Cleveland team and one of the greatest hitters the game ever produced, never played with a pennant winning team. Many others, too, came up to the big show and went back to the minor leagues without getting a crack at the big money. In boxing, after a boy appears in a curtain raiser, he looks forward to the day when he will swap punches with the "champ." In this game, also many likely performers find it impossible to get on with the big boys. Usually the fellow with the title declares the terms, and if he has any fear of an aspirant he, of course, has a way of ducking the issue. Not all champions are afraid to risk their titles, but unfortunately some are.

All this shows that our leading battler, Phiney Boyle, has a great chance, one that many have sought for years, when he meets Frankie (Young) Britt, N. E. lightweight champion, at the Crescent A. A. on Friday night. Phiney appreciates the chance and is training hard for the match. He is the present champion and all numbers are invited to go there and see him perform. In addition to the Boyle-Britt bout there will be three other good numbers. All wishing to attend should get their application blanks at the rink on Hurd street before 7 o'clock tomorrow night.

Machinery Works Smoothly

Now is the time to see the selective service law working at its nicest, and the system of registering drafted men smoothly as big city voting machinery.

At the height of the arrivals, 650 recruits were shot through the receiving station in 50 minutes.

All were examined and registered in that short time by the men receiving them. Capt. T. J. Raymond, Raymond of Malone, N. Y., and Sergt. Robert A. Brew of Plattsburg. The auxiliary agencies were at work, too, helping out. Y.M.C.A. secretaries sold $450 worth of stamps to draftees who wanted to let the home folks know they had arrived even before they had reached business men are coming in now, too. Springfield's 515 were led by Arthur L. Leary, owner of a hat-making concern. Holyoke sent G. Norman Parfitt and Dennis Mahoney, partners in a large furniture concern. Raymond Swift, a school and college athlete, came in with the smiling Springfield crowd.

All day long there was the healthiest sort of bantering between draftees and rookies who had preceded them by three weeks. "Keep those lines straight-heads up!" yelled the "veterans" to the suitcase and bundle lugs of recruits, putting to its use all the military discipline they had listened to from drill sergeants.

From the other side: A squad of month-old soldiers went down the street toting huge new baggage cans for their barracks. "Hey, what are you fellows—stenographers?" a New Bedford draftee yelled at them.

THE WAR DEVELOPS

ANOTHER BOXER

The war has developed another Lowell boxer into real power and as a result of his training in the naval service of Uncle Sam, Frank (Young) Walsh, who six years ago was one of the topnotchers among the local boys in the featherweight class, has regained his ability which he had lost temporarily as a result of an accident.

Walsh is now serving aboard the U.S.S. Salem and in a letter to The Sun sporting editor, he said that his protégé is back in old-time form and challenges all aspirants for 123-pound championship honors. His recent bouts have been with Young Taylor and Young Witten, both good boys, and Walsh was given the decision in both set-fos. Walsh would like to meet Lowell boys upon his return to home waters at 123-pound rounds.

BRAVES HAVE OPTIONS ON SEVEN

PROMISING MINOR LEAGUE PLAYERS

BOSTON, July 24.—If baseball is allowed to continue for the balance of the season, the Boston National league club will take immediate steps to bolster its playing strength, which has been depleted through enlistment and the draft. Options have been obtained on seven promising minor league players and these will be exercised if the Washington authorities permit baseball to go on. The players involved are Pitcher Northrup, Indianapolis, (American association); Pitchers Sherman and George, and Outfielder Bailey, Columbus, (American association); Pitcher Crandall and Shortstop Terry, San Francisco (Pacific Coast league); and Pitcher McQuillan, Worcester, (Eastern league).

The Braves returned home today from their western trip without Outfielder Dick Murphy, recently secured from Des Moines, of the Western league. Murphy, Manager Stallings reported, left for his home in Denver after the Pittsburgh series.

CORRECTION IN REPORT OF RE-CEPTION TO THE GREEK

AMBASSADOR

In the report in Monday's paper of the reception to Ambassador Roussos by the local Greek community, it was inadvertently stated that the ambassador was entertained at luncheon upon his arrival here Saturday afternoon at the home of Dr. John K. Gatsopoulos. The report should have read that the ambassador was entertained at luncheon at the Richardson hotel by the reception committee of the Greek community. It was on Sunday afternoon that the ambassador was entertained at luncheon at the home of Dr. John K. Gatsopoulos.

SWIMMING POOL CLOSED

The Rogers Hall swimming pool will be closed for the season until tomorrow evening, Thursday, July 25. The water is being changed and it will take this length of time, to complete the work of putting in clean water. All other activities will be going on just the same, such as tennis, use of the showers, etc. Girls who are in the regular swimming classes during this period, will have an opportunity to make up for the time lost, by making inquiries at the office.

CAMP NEWS

NEW DRAFTS SHOW THE KIND OF SPIRIT THAT MAKES THE

HUN QUAIL

CAMP DEVENS, July 24.—It wouldn't be the sort of propaganda to encourage Germans, if the story of how 3000 more sons of Massachusetts walked into our national army could be circulated throughout the Vaterland.

Another regiment in the making, a regiment of steady-eyed, substantial young men, coming here on a hot summer day, taking the biggest step in their lives with a round of smiles and bit worn of Yankee spirit.

It isn't too much to say these 3000 were anxious to get into the fight. The draft has lost its nervousness and uncertainty. These 3000 have known other thousands who came to Devens before them. They seemed almost at home, the way they chased after supply sergeants to get their outfit. They acted as if they were afraid the job would be done before they had a hand in it, from the youngest recruit turned 21 to the 41-year-old Milford shipper of Italian descent, who begged for a uniform and American citizenship papers—both of which he will get.

This week's draft is breaking up more Massachusetts homes than any before. The married men who have been given deferred classification and were later classified are here now.

Missing Dory With Five of Crew of Schooner Sunk Off Maine Picked Up

Fishing Craft Sent Down by German Submarine—Warships Hunt for Raider

PORTLAND, Me., July 24.—All those on the Gloucester fishing schooner Robert and Richard, sunk by a German submarine off the Maine coast Monday, had been accounted for today.

There were 23 persons on the vessel. Three men were landed at Kennebunkport and 11 at this port last night. Four more were brought in here today and four men and a boy were picked up at sea and taken to Boston.

The fishermen who arrived here today were picked up by a naval patrol boat. The four men and the boy taken to Boston were rescued at sea by a tug and transferred to a naval boat which took them to Boston.

Captain Robert Wharton and his men were interviewed by the naval authorities—the captain and 17 men at the naval coast defense reserve headquarters here, and five at the headquarters of the first naval district in Boston.

A hunt for the enemy submarine was under way today. Scores of patrol boats were searching up and down the Maine coast and hydroplanes were on the lookout from above.

RENEW SEARCH FOR RAIDERS OFF N. E. COAST

BOSTON, July 24.—Officials of the first naval district made every effort today to locate the enemy submarine which has been operating off the New England coast for the past three days. After the sinking of the Gloucester schooner Robert and Richard, off the coast of Maine on Monday, scores of seaplanes, submarine chasers and boats of greater power were sent out to search.

Urbana, Ohio.—"I am attending college, and got into a nervous, run-down condition, no appetite, was weak and exhausted. Vinol has given me a good appetite and built up my strength and health, and I can heartily recommend it to anyone for such conditions."

The reason Vinol was so successful in Miss Carter's case is because it contains the very elements needed to build up a weakened, run-down system, make rich, red blood and create strength.

patrol the coast and to protect shipping. It was realized that the submarine had had time to travel a long distance since it was last seen 65 miles off Cape Porpoise. At that time the boat was headed south.

Naval and marine men are inclined to the opinion that only one submarine has been in New England waters. Descriptions given by crews of sunken craft, however, would indicate that there might have been two. Men aboard the barges attacked off Cape Cod on Sunday reported the submarine to be 400 feet long. The fishermen aboard the Robert and Richard estimated the length of the submarine which attacked them at 250 feet.

Identification of the "distressed" steamer reported off Nantucket as a ship damaged in an explosion several months ago in a North Atlantic port disposed of the theory that a submarine was active in that locality and strengthening the contention that only one submarine was operating off the New England coast.

The barges were attacked without warning, but the crew of the fishing schooner was given time to leave the ship.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Crapshooter Ordered to Pay Fine of $10—Three Automobile Drivers Arraigned

Irvin Clement was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of voluntarily participating in a game on the Lord's day. The game in question was "shooting crap," a pastime which the police say is becoming too popular in this city. The young man was found guilty and paid a fine of $10.

Didn't Blow Horn

Three local automobile drivers were in court charged with failing to slow down or sound a warning signal when approaching the junction of Chelmsford and Plain streets. The men are Ralph S. Webb, Henry Turney, and Joseph Kaled. Turney and Kaled pleaded guilty, while Webb entered a plea of not guilty. The three were found guilty and fines of $5 each were imposed.

Other Offenders

Thomas Brown pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness. His wife was vehement in her denunciation of her husband, saying that he has contributed practically nothing to the support of his family and that she would not permit him to enter her house again. Brown, however, convinced the judge that he deserved another chance and he was given a suspended sentence of two months in jail.

Henry Kitchen was arraigned on a charge of assault and battery upon a six-year-old boy. He entered a plea of guilty. The boy had entered the stable in which Kitchen is employed and had "kicked him" by getting in his way so Kitchen struck the boy a few blows with a horse whip. He was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $5.

SAYS THOUSANDS OF AMERICANS KILLED

AMSTERDAM, July 24.—Telegraphing from the Aisne-Marne battle front under date of Tuesday evening the correspondent of the Wolff bureau, the semi-official German news agency, says:

"Continuing their attack between the Aisne and the Marne, the French for the first time employed American cannon fodder in comparatively large numbers as an addition to their Senegalese auxiliaries."

"Dense masses of blacks and Americans were hurled against the German lines. They paid for it in some hundred thousands of killed negroes and Americans. In some other places they advanced to attack 16 waves deep. One wave after the other broke down in the German artillery and machine gun fire."

"Next day they renewed their assault seven times with gradually lessening force."

"On the third day the American infantry began to halt at the first rush, throwing themselves down as soon as the German artillery commenced."

"When the firing continued, they required rapidly, so that at times their attack became a hurried flight."

"On many occasions the German infantry stood up in the trenches and while standing there, received the Americans with salvos of rifle fire."

"In the attack on July 21 American battalions of the second division advancing through the ravine of Vision-eux, were caught in the fire of German machine guns which covered the ravine from the sugar works at Noyant. They immediately turned about and fled."

"American casualties on July 19 and July 20, especially of officers were exceptionally severe. Prisoners say some regiments were annihilated."

ANOTHER BIG DAY FOR ALLIES ON ALL FRONTS

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Tuesday, July 23. (By the Associated Press).—Tuesday was another successful day for the allies along the entire battle front. The bag of prisoners captured by the French northwest of Montdidier numbered more than 1500. The victory was gained with very slight losses.

Farther southward on the northern side of the Marne, American and French troops met several strong German attacks to which they responded with vigorous counter attacks, as a result of which the allied line again was advanced. The Americans made their gains in heavy fighting in the vicinity of the Barbillion wood. On

ALLIES HAMMER AT FLANKS OF CROWN PRINCE'S ARMY

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, July 24, 7:30 a. m.—(By the Associated Press). The French, the British and the Americans are still hammering the flanks of the crown prince's army. The Germans are known to have brought up fresh support forces at some points, but the allies report the situation as favorable.

More favorable weather conditions brought out droves of aircraft this morning. The day was an excellent one for observation, and this is expected to change the character of the fighting somewhat, especially with regard to the artillery.

A change for the better in the weather conditions took place during the night when the clouds disappeared and the wind died down. Scarcely a dust cloud could be seen this morning on any part of the widespread battlefield with the exception of the spurts rising from the thousands of craters made by the guns on both sides.

HUN COUNTER ATTACKS

BROKEN UP BY FRENCH

PARIS, July 24.—The Germans last night delivered a counter attack upon the allied lines in the vicinity of Vreigny, five miles southwest of Rheims. The war office announced today that the attack had been repulsed.

There was great activity by the artillery during the night along the front between the Aisne and the Marne and northeast toward Rheims.

The text of the statement follows: "The night was marked by great artillery activity between the Marne and the Aisne and in the Courton and Rhodens, in the Rheims sector."

"At 9 o'clock last night, the Germans launched a counter attack west of Rheims in the region of Vreigny. French troops broke all assaults and held their positions intact."

"There are no events of importance to report from the rest of the front."

ARMIES OF PETAINE AND PERSHING PUSH HUNS BACK

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, Tuesday, July 23. (By the Associated Press).—The armies of Petain and Pershing have forced their way through rain-soaked woods and flows farther into the German lines. The strategy of Gen. Foch apparently called for the delivery of smashing blows today at numerous points. Crack divisions of the army of the German crown prince were forced to give ground before the French and Americans.

The day closed with the Germans having been pushed back at many points by the Franco-American attacks which followed a night of heavy artillery firing.

LINER IN U.S. TRANSPORT SERVICE SUNK AFTER FIGHT WITH U-BOAT

Big Assignment of Lowell Men For Camp Devens Today

Hun Losses to Date 180,000 Allies Continue to Advance

Largest Individual Quota of Local Men for National Army Begins Training—Record Breaking Crowd at Station Gives Soldiers Rousing Send-off

Approximately 265 Lowell men with a number from other cities were forwarded to Camp Devens from this city this morning and their departure from the Middlesex street station shortly after 10 o'clock attracted one of the largest crowds ever seen there on a similar occasion.

It was easily the biggest send-off that the city has yet experienced and although formality was wholly lacking, nevertheless, the presence of thousands of friends and relatives of the embryo National army lent an air of dignity and impressiveness that could not be overlooked.

Today's quota was the largest individual increment that has ever been sent from Lowell to Ayr at one time. The departure of the boys this morning in most instances took every available man in Class 1 from the four local exemption boards and for that reason those who went away today were really the vanguard of Lowell's first great installment to the armed forces of the nation. From now on, the exemption board officials will have to cut deeper and deeper into the man power of the city to provide their quotas.

There was a record-breaking crowd at the Middlesex street station, to cheer the men as they pulled out with brother fighting men at 10.10 for the cantonment "up there." Several municipal officials were present, but beyond that there wasn't a touch of formality. There was no music and no speechmaking except the singing of enthusiastic fellows and the mock farewell addresses of those who couldn't keep quiet.

Somebody was thoughtful enough to bring a large Old Glory to the station and many of the men rallied around this before boarding the train and cheered their mightiest. And as the train pulled out, one energetic standard bearer who was being left behind, marched the length of the station platform waving the banner. Hail came off automatically as he passed and there were rousing cheers. Beyond this, the send-off was like the others that have been witnessed. The men were scheduled to leave at 9.50 on a special train but it was 20 minutes later when they eventually got under way. The men assembled at the headquarters of their respective exemption boards shortly after 9 o'clock and after being given final instructions and having their names checked off, they marched to the railroad station. Here the names were again checked and then the soldiers boarded four coaches which were awaiting them on Track 1. About 10 o'clock a cheer was heard in the distance and a few seconds later, seven cars bearing draftees from Haverhill and Lawrence puffed into the station and the Lowell train was transferred onto Track 2, annexed to the Lawrence and Haverhill coaches and after a brief wait, the long caravan of stalwart defenders began its journey to Camp Devens. People lined every available place in the station and even the boundaries on Thordike, Middlesex and Chelmsford streets. It was one of the largest crowds ever

Giant White Star Steamer
Justicia in 24 Hour Battle
With Hun Submarine

Attacked After Delivering Large Contingent of American Troops Overseas

AN IRISH PORT, Monday, July 22. (By the Associated Press.)—The giant White Star liner Justicia has been torpedoed and sunk. The Justicia was formerly the Dutch steamer Statendam, which was taken over by the British government on the stocks at Belfast, when she was nearing completion. She was a vessel of 32,234 tons gross.

24-Hour Battle With Sub

Four hundred of the crew of the Justicia have been landed here. Survivors report that the liner was sunk after a 24-hour fight with submarines. No passengers were lost, and only 10 of the crew were killed. The first torpedo struck the engine room and the ship then stopped. Several other torpedoes were fired, but only two of the missiles were effective.

Enemy Pays Dearly for Attack

The story of the fight between the German submarine and the Justicia, if it could be told, would make one of the finest in the annals of anti-submarine warfare.

Nothing which has occurred in connection with the sinking of the former White Star liner gives many men any cause for misgivings over the submarine war. The defensive measures and methods showed up to excellent advantage and indicated that the entire naval forces can always be counted on to make the enemy pay dearly for every attempt he makes.

Crew of 700—11 Dead

LONDON, July 24.—The Justicia carried a crew of between 600 and 700. Eleven members of the crew are dead. The Justicia, says a Belfast despatch, was sunk off the north Irish coast on Saturday morning last.

Ten Torpedoes Discharged

One of the crew is quoted by the Belfast Evening Telegraph as saying that ten torpedoes were discharged at the Justicia. Four of the approaching missiles, he added, were exploded by gunfire from the ship.

Was Returning to America

NEW YORK, July 24.—The Justicia was returning to an American port after delivering a large contingent of American troops, it was learned here. The Justicia had a troop-carrying capacity of between 7000 and 8000 men.

In this she approached the leviathan Vaterland, now in the service of the American government, carrying troops to Europe.

The Justicia was designed as a modern passenger liner for the trade between New York and Rotterdam.

After she was completed at Belfast, the Cunard Steamship Co. turned her over to the British admiralty. She

PEACE TERMS

Germany Again Sends Out
Feelers for a "Made-In-Germany" Peace

Makes Suggestions for a Peace Conference to the Spanish Government

AMSTERDAM, July 24.—Germany has made suggestions for a peace conference to the Spanish government, says the Socialist Vorwaerts of Berlin.

The Terms

The suggestions are:
First—Germany wants no annexations or indemnities in the west.

Second—The peace treaties with Russia and Rumania may not be questioned.

Third—The principle of self-determination of peoples has not been discussed but may be settled at the peace conference where the fate of Belgium also is to be settled.

Fourth—The Balkan question is to be settled around the conference tables.

Fifth—The freedom of the seas, the dismantling of Gibraltar and the Suez canal, and the right for Germany to use coaling stations.

Sixth—The colonial question is to be settled on the basis of the status quo.

The Vorwaerts considers this a very reasonable peace program.

View of Washington Officials

WASHINGTON, July 24.—In the peace suggestions which the Berlin Vorwaerts declares the German government is about to advance through the Spanish government, officials here detect the German design, embodied in some shape in almost every one of the peace proposals which have emanated from Berlin or Vienna to leave to a roundtable conference the actual definition of peace terms.

President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain and Clemenceau of France, have recorded themselves definitely that no peace conference shall be entered upon until there has been an acceptance by all the powers of the exact terms upon which the conference shall be conducted and of the broad principles to govern the negotiators.

President Wilson's definition of the terms upon which America is willing to discuss peace, has been accepted by all the great entente powers as representative of their own desires.

Officials here point out that Germany in well aware of these conditions, and consequently they can only view this reported new attempt at a peace negotiation as another appeal to the pacifistic elements in the entente and also as intended to quiet the uneasy socialist elements within the central powers, who are believed to be again in a dangerous mood.

Acting Secretary of State Polk said the new terms seemed more favorable to Germany than any that had been made hitherto.

It also is noted that the German government in any sense; that it is the socialistic mouthpiece and that it ordinarily would be the last among the great German papers to set forth the purposes of the government.

Americans, French and British Still Hammering Flanks of Crown Prince's Army—Reserves Fail to Stop Allies —Break Up Hun Counter Attacks

(By the Associated Press.)

Allied pressure on the Rhinels-Solsens salient, maintains its progress against the Germans who also are being hampered in their preparations for an eventual retirement by hurricanes of shells, from allied guns and hundreds of bombs dropped by allied airplanes.

Allies Beat Down Foe and Advance

Stubbish as is the resistance of the Germans at vital points, especially from the Ourcq along the Marne to the Ardre, the French, American and British continue to advance. Heavy artillery fire and hundreds of machine guns form the backbone of the German defense. This has tended to slow up the allies, but has not stopped their progress.

French Push on Toward Hun Base

On the important sector astride the Ourcq, the French have moved forward another kilometre toward the important German base of Fere-en-Tardenois. The town with its supplies of food and ammunition is now within six miles of the advancing French line. A great fire has been burning there many hours.

Vicious Hun Attack Futile

While the French progress toward Fere from the west, French and Americans are gaining steadily from the east.

PROFITEERING

More Evidence of Fraud in Contracts for Army Shoes and Other Equipment

Probe by Army Intelligence and Department of Justice Agents

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Fraud and gross profiteering have been uncovered in many contracts for army shoes, shirts, leggings, overcoats and other soldiers' supplies and equipment as a result of investigation by army intelligence and department of justice agents.

New Confessions

Information shedding light on methods by which manufacturers were able to evade rigid inspection tests and pass inferior articles to fill government contracts, is understood to have been gathered from new confessions of some of the 18 raincoat contractors under arrest in New York, charged with bribery, fraud or conspiracy.

Action will be taken against the other manufacturers, as rapidly as specific proof of fraud is developed, it is said. In some cases, officials plan to give publicity to the practices without undertaking criminal prosecutions. The reason for this is explained, is that government agents have evidence of irregularity and profiteering in hundreds of contracts without the substantial proof on which conviction might be based.

An outgrowth of the campaign against graft and fraud in army contracts, caused largely, it was charged, by the illegal system of negotiating orders through commission fee agents, is the discovery that a number of officers in the quartermaster's corps responsible for placing contracts, continue illegally to receive salaries from concerns which employed them in civil life.

French and Americans Drive the Germans Out of Chatelet Forest

ALLIED ADVANCE MADE IN JUMP
—The American Cavalry
in Action

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE FRONT, July 24, 12.50 p. m.—(By the Associated Press) Along the line north of Chateau-Thierry, the Franco-American forces have driven the Germans out of nearly all of the Chatelet forest.

The allied advance was made in considerable jumps in that area. The Germans are continuing their rear guard fighting and depending much upon their machine guns.

Further to the west the Americans gained the ascendancy over the Germans and drove through beyond the town of Epieds.

American cavalry was used at one point in the operations north of the Chateau-Thierry line.

To the northward the most intense resistance was offered along the extended German right flank, but the reports are that the allies have made gains and that the Germans have been unable to halt the movement towards their lines of supplies.

MAY LOWER AGE

Plans to Increase American Army to 5,000,000 Men Are Underway

Foch Will Have 2,000,000 Americans Before Present Fighting Season Closes

WASHINGTON, July 24.—It appears that, with probably not much more than a quarter of a million American troops engaged in the present battle, Gen. Foch has been able to turn the tables on the enemy and strike a blow that has changed the whole trend of the war.

Officials here realize the fact that the American army in going forward in a constantly increasing stream is the governing factor in restoring the initiative to the allied forces. Plans are therefore taking shape rapidly at the war department to accelerate and enlarge the American military program.

It is now virtually certain that Gen. Foch will have at least 2,000,000 American troops to supplement his allied armies before the present fighting season closes. Secretary Baker announced yesterday that the department's new program, embracing enlarged army appropriations, modifications of the draft ages to increase the reservoir of fighting men and plans for a larger mobilization than any yet undertaken, would soon be ready for congress. He would give no details, but the plans probably aim at getting under arms without delay a total force not far short of the 5,000,000 figure widely discussed in congress when the subject was last under consideration there.

The fighting in the Aisne salient, where the whole German offensive scheme has been upset, if not definitely defeated, by the bold strategy of Gen. Foch, has opened new possibilities. There is increased need for haste in the opinion of officials, in getting full American man-power ready to supplement the efforts that appear now to be taking shape toward hurling the enemy back all along the front and beginning the advance that will end only when victory has been achieved.

K. OF C. LADIES' DAY TOMORROW

The Knights of Columbus will hold their annual ladies' day at the Genoa club grounds in Tyngsboro tomorrow and the affair promises to be a success in every way. Special invitations are extended to the K. of C. Knitting guild and the K. of C. Glee club and every member of the council and friends are urged to be present. Although the committee on arrangements has been somewhat hampered in carrying out its plans, on account of the limited time, it nevertheless promises to provide the usual excellent program. The program of sports will include the annual baseball game between the married and single men, a fat man's race, a money scramble for the children, and various races for the women folk. There will be a concert by the Truant School band during the afternoon while in the evening Broderick's orchestra. Luncheon will be served in the course of the afternoon. Several special cars have been hired for the occasion. A great time is promised to all who attend.

DILLON TO URGE PRES. WILSON'S IDEALS

LONDON, July 24.—John Dillon, Irish Nationalist leader, gave notice in the house of commons yesterday that he would ask the government for a day for the discussion of the following motion:

"The policy pursued toward Ireland by the government is inconsistent with the great principles for the vindication of which the allied powers are carrying on the war. This policy has greatly alienated and exasperated the Irish people, and if persisted in will further alienate and exasperate them and will steadily increase the difficulty of reaching a settlement of the Irish question on the basis of friendship between the British and Irish nations."

"That this house entirely endorses the principles laid down by President Wilson in his great speech at the grave of George Washington, when speaking of the objects for which America and her allies are fighting. He said:

"These great objects can be put into a single sentence. What we seek is the reign of law, based upon the consent of the governed and sustained by the organized opinion of mankind. These great ends cannot be achieved by debating and seeking to reconcile and accommodate what statesmen may wish, with their projects for balances of power and of national opportunity. They can be realized only by the determination of what the thinking peoples of the world desire, with their longing hope for justice and for social freedom and opportunity."

"And that this house is of the opinion that the true solution of the Irish question is to put into operation without delay with regard to Ireland the principles laid down by President Wilson in his historic utterance."

NERVES UNSTRUNG BY RUSH OF WORK

In these war times we all want to keep ourselves at the highest point of efficiency to be able to do our share in the many demands for service that are made on all. Unless you stop the mental fatigue and build up your nerves you will be fortunate if you escape nervous breakdown, some form of paralysis or other severe nervous disorder.

"The strain of a rush of work at the ill, due to war orders, was getting on my nerves," says Mr. Thomas Wagner of 67 Marshall street, Lowell, Mass., "and I had stomach trouble. My appetite was poor and I could not digest food. I was restless all the time. I was restless and restless and tossed about in bed. When I got up I did not feel like working. A friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I gave them a trial. I soon noticed that they were helping me. I can eat better and have more ambition. My nerves are steadier and I rest well at night. I certainly can commend these pills after what they have done for me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a nerve tonic. They build up the nerves in the only possible way, by enriching the blood with elements the nerves need. The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a tonic, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved useful in so many severe cases that every sufferer is justified in giving them a trial for any form of nervous debility. They contain no opiate or harmful drug.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price fifty cents per box; six boxes for $2.50. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free book on nervous disorders.

BIG INCREASE IN CROP ACREAGE IN N. H.

DURHAM, N. H., July 24.—The crop acreage in New Hampshire increased more than 32 per cent this year, according to figures made public here today by the state food production committee. There was a large increase in gardening operations, 75 per cent more land being devoted to gardening than in 1917. The committee reported that frosts in June did not seriously damage any of the crops. The rains which followed revived many plants.

FOR 15th TERM Col. French, Dean of N. H. Legislature to Run

CONCORD, N. H., July 24.—Col. James E. French, dean of the New Hampshire house of representatives, yesterday filed with the secretary of state his candidacy for the republican nomination for the legislature from the town of Moultonboro, Carroll county, which he has represented at 14 previous sessions of the general court. In 1916 he received the democratic as well as the republican nomination in the primary and every one of the 235 votes cast in the town at the November election. No candidate has filed against him thus far this year.

A contest for the republican county commissioner nominations in Merrimack county was assured today when William M. Johnston of Suncook filed, making four candidates for the three places on the board. Commissioners Arthur H. Britton and John C. McQuillen of this city and Representative James L. Colby of Webster are the other candidates now in the field. Commissioner John F. Jewell of Warner not having filed for renomination as yet.

THE PASSING OF THE OPEN SUGAR BOWL

BOSTON, July 24.—Declaring that the open sugar bowl in public eating places must go and that one ounce per person at each meal shall be the limit, Frank Hall, chairman of the hotel and restaurant division of the food administration, yesterday issued an order to all restaurants and hotel keepers and took steps to enforce the latest regulation regarding the use of sugar.

The food administrator says the rule is being pretty generally observed in Boston, however, instances where the managers of eating places have disregarded the rule have been brought to the attention of the chairman of the food administration, and hereafter, he says, he proposes to see that the regulations are strictly observed throughout the state.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulled coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulled coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

BOMB FAILURES

Navy Department Making Thorough Inspection of Stock of Explosives

American Depth Bomb Second to None in Effectiveness Against U-Boats

WASHINGTON, July 24.—While waiting the result of the official inquiry into the failure of naval airplane bombs to explode when dropped by naval aviators at the German submarine off the New England coast Sunday, the navy department is making a thorough inspection of its entire stock of these projectiles to determine the reliability of detonation.

The ordnance bureau of the navy has taken under consideration the alteration of the bombs used in aerial operations so as to increase the certainty of their exploding.

Sec. Daniels said yesterday that a low percentage of bombs which fail to explode has been discovered in the navy's tests.

Percentage of Failures Small

Reports on file here show that the United States has met with a much lower percentage of failures than any of the allied nations.

The great obstacles met by ordnance experts in attaining efficiency in aerial bombs is the necessity of maintaining a factor of safety for the protection of the aviator. Absolute certainty of explosion could be easily had, but it would be accompanied by great danger of accidental detonation before the bomb was released.

It was explained that the naval inquiry is not intended so much to determine the failure of the aviators to damage the submarine off Orleans, Mass., as to make certain that the store of projectiles is ready for efficient service.

It is shown definitely that one of the two bombs dropped Sunday struck so far from the target that it would not have damaged the submarine had an explosion occurred. No information is available as to the accuracy obtained in the second attempt.

Depth Bombs Prove Effective

In connection with the inquiry into naval aerial ammunition it became known yesterday that reports to the department show that fine results are being obtained in the use of the depth bomb, originated and perfected by the American navy. The assertion has been heard in well-informed quarters that this weapon is second to none in effectiveness among those being used against the submarine.

American destroyers in using the depth bomb employ the bracketing process. Dashing to the spot where evidence of a submarine has been seen, one bomb is dropped immediately over it, and at the same time catapults hurl other bombs 100 feet to the front, rear and to each side.

The enemy thus generally is caught in the area of detonation, regardless of how he shifts his course. It is said that the percentage of hits has increased greatly since this procedure was adopted.

AMERICAN TROOPS IN BITTER FIGHTING

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, Tuesday, July 23.—(By the Associated Press)

—American troops participated in some of the heaviest fighting today in the vicinity of Epieds and Trugny, where give and take struggles continued throughout the day. At the end of the day, the Americans had advanced some distance in the neighborhood of Barbillion wood.

Along the Marne, the allied bridgeheads gradually are spreading out as the Germans are pushed back, while the fears by the enemy regarding the future are indicated by the constant burning of depots and ammunition and supply dumps everywhere within the pocket.

Many farms in the region of Barbillion wood had been thoroughly organized for defense by the enemy, but they fell before the Franco-American onslaught.

On the other wing of the German salient, around Virigny, southwest of Rheims, the battle kept up throughout the morning and afternoon. The British and French co-operated and advanced an average of a kilometre against stubborn German resistance.

The British took 300 additional prisoners, making their total 1100 in three days of fighting.

AMERICANS RETAKE

TRUGNY IN COUNTER ATTACK

LONDON, July 24.—There was fierce fighting Tuesday between the Americans and the Germans along the crests northeast of Chateau-Thierry, says a despatch from Reuter's correspondent on the French front. In the morning the enemy retook Epieds and the hamlet of Trugny, a mile to the south. The Americans counter attacked and re-entered Trugny and continued to press back the Germans, who still held Epieds when the despatch was filed.

In the region between Mont St. Pierre and Charleville, the French and Americans pushed forward two miles, capturing a number of fortified farms. The Americans completed their occupation of the Barbillion wood.

ABUSE OF RED CROSS NAME

The abuse of the Red Cross name by unauthorized and unscrupulous persons seeking to lure young women from home by false promises of nursing service has become so dangerous in and about Boston that Red Cross officers feel called upon to again issue warning to the public.

"The pretext has been used even to the extent of white slavery," says Miss Elizabeth Ross, director of the Bureau of Nursing of the New England Division. "Only yesterday there came to headquarters two girls who asked for nursing information, saying that they had been promised, by an alleged physician, Red Cross service abroad after only a few months of training. They were to go back to his office they said. Almost by accident they came to Red Cross offices, thinking it best to make some inquiries there. They were quickly informed of the fraud and saved from possible disaster. It is easy to appreciate the awful possibilities of such criminal deception unless full warning is given to all young women hoping to enter the Red Cross service."

It should be first of all distinctly understood that Red Cross nurses are fully graduated nurses, recruited only after the most careful investigation, both by the Red Cross and the government itself. They must be enrolled and certified and their loyalty to the United States must be investigated and vouched for. Passports are granted by the Washington authorities only after the most careful inspection. They are then mobilized and sent abroad from one or two stations,—in and about New York,—where they receive equipment and final instructions. The whole process takes several weeks.

It is not possible for anyone not authorized by the Red Cross to offer positions, or in any way to take part in training and enrollment. Thorough knowledge of these simple facts not only by the applicants themselves, but by their relatives and friends, may save much trouble and the possibility of something worse.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Note—Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others.

B. F. KELTH'S THEATRE

A good comedy is "Ruggles of Red Gap," which is being shown at the B. F. Kelth theatre, this evening for the final time. Taylor Holmes, a versatile comedian; Lawrence D'Orsay, a stand-by of the legitimate stage, and Theodore Burton, also a good character actor, have the leading roles in this very funny Harry Leon Wilson story. The theatre is delightfully cool, due to the modern ventilating devices which are there installed. "The Painted Lily," the second feature, has beautiful Alma Rubens in the leading part. The Hearst-Pathe News pictures are also very interesting.

THE STRAND

This afternoon and tonight's performances offer the last opportunity of seeing Emily Stevens in "A Man's World" and June Elvidge and George McQuarrie in "Joan of the Woods." Both are commendable photo-dramas and worthy of favorable consideration by patrons who favor superior motion picture entertainment. The allied war pictures, the Pathe Weekly and a Vitagraph comedy also help make the bill exceptional. Miss Vera Moody, the Lowell girl, who is the week's soloist, is making a big hit in her song numbers, while Arthur J. Martel is also good in his overture selections. Beginning tomorrow and continuing for the remainder of the week George Walsh in "The Kid in Clover" and Antonio Moreno and Darridana in "The Neapolitan," by Rudyard Kipling and Wolcott Ballister. Don't miss them.

Danny Duggan will present a silver loving cup to the best dancer at the Kasino tonight, following the exhibition by Mr. Duggan and Miss Dorothy Luce of New York. Lowell dancers are thus sure of a fine prize, and also sure of expert judgment of their work. Mr. Duggan and Miss Luce are among the finest dancers on the waxen surface in America today.

For a genuinely amazing 15 minutes, go to Lakeview park this week, any afternoon or evening, and see the Kitu Japs, a family of wonder workers. Walking on the keen edge of Samurai swords, flying huge American flags out of practically nothing, this is part of what they do. And don't forget the dancing. There's not one city dance hall that has the free, open spaces that Lakeview has. Box of candy or sofa pillow to the best woman bowler tonight.

A large turtle was captured the other day by a Berkshire county woman who had it killed and then made turtle soup. As members of the family did not care for this high-class food, it was fed to a young pig.

MATRIMONIAL

Ashton—Stancombe

A pretty marriage took place in Dunstable recently when Miss Ida May Stancombe of Dunstable was wedded to Mr. Stephen Ashton of Lowell. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents on the Nashua road, Rev. N. W. Matthews of Lowell and Rev. Leo Ashton of Lawrence, brother of the bridegroom, uniting the happy couple in marriage. Mr. Andrew Stancombe, the bride's brother, acted as best man, while Miss Ethel Ashton, sister of the bridegroom, attended the bride. Wilfrid Booth furnished music for the occasion. Following the ceremony a dinner was served to many friends and relatives from Dunstable, Lowell, Lawrence and Nashua. Mr. and Mrs. Ashton will go on a wedding tour to Old Orchard and the coast, after which they will make their home in Lowell.

PAPER MILLS ARE CLOSED BY STRIKES

RUMFORD, Me., July 24.—The employees of the International Paper Co.'s mill here, numbering about 750, struck today in response to orders from the International Brotherhood of Paper Mill Workers, and the mill was shut down. Less than 100 in various departments of the mill remained on duty.

Fear Strike Will Spread

NEW YORK, July 24.—Officials of the International Paper Co., expressed fear today that a strike of papermakers, firemen and other workers which had enforced closing of the Glens Falls, Port Edward, Corinth and Ticonderoga, N. Y., and Rumford, Me., mills, might spread to the 15 other plants of the corporation, tying up the entire industry. Such a development, it was stated, would seriously curtail the operations of a large percentage of American newspapers.

It was stated that in the four New York mills 1500 men walked out yesterday, throwing into idleness 500 other employees. The strikers accused the company of violating a wage-fixing order of the war labor board, made in June when a general walkout of papermakers throughout the United States and Canada was threatened. The board awarded the workers a general wage advance approximating 20 per cent, which the company claims was to take the place of all bonuses. At that time a 10 per cent bonus was in effect, and the paper mill workers insist the officials say that this should stand, in addition to the increase.

The company, according to its officials, offered to submit the difference to the war labor board for a special ruling, but the employees refused to co-operate in this course.

It was asserted at the general offices of the company that the closing of the four mills had curtailed its production 33 per cent.

O. M. I. CADETS LEAVING FOR THEIR ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT AT MILLIGAN'S GROVE.

O.M.I. CADETS IN CAMP AT MILLIGAN'S GROVE

Milligan's grove at Silver Lake has been captured—but not by the Germans. The O.M.I. Cadets marched in Monday and took possession without even a skirmish. Maj. Joseph Boyd, Jr., was the commanding officer of the expedition—and he has proclaimed that his force will remain there for one week.

The Cadets have laid out a military camp which equals the best of them. To the right of the grove is the company street, with its orderly rows of tents, each with a small trench running round it to carry off any showers that may put in an appearance. The hospital, commissary, cooks' tents, etc., have been erected conveniently near the centre of operations, making a total of 23 tents in all. The large mess tables, which are much in demand three times a day are also set up in the central part of the grounds.

Four companies, besides the drum corps of 20 pieces, are represented. With the ever popular Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., as chaplain, and "Mar" J. McCarthy, O.M.I., as physical director and swimming instructor. The boys are getting a touch of real army life this summer. Their bunks consist of a little hay and two blankets. They sleep eight to a tent, and Major Boyd has his hands full in making some of his young soldiers remember that "taps" is synonymous with quiet.

The cooking of course, is done out of doors, and a newly driven well provides some of the finest "Adam's ale" on tap.

Thursday is to be the big day of the week, the forenoon being set aside for a sham battle for the possession of the camps, one force fighting on the offensive and the other on the defensive. The afternoon will bring an athletic contest under the supervision of "Matt" McCann. Some valuable prizes have been donated for these events by local clothing stores. A prize drill, company and individual, will also be a feature of the afternoon, with suitable medals for the winners.

The hospital unit, composed of Mrs. Jeremiah Dooley and Miss Elizabeth Conroy, reported everything O.K. so far, except for a few minor cases, which had been successfully treated. The commissary department, Chief McKenzie and his assistant, John O'Connell, declare they are the busiest part in the camp, but when the cadets begin telling what a wonderful dinner they had, the cooks are satisfied with the work again.

The daily program for the week follows: 6.45, reveille; 7.15, morning prayer and setting-up exercises; 7.30, assembly is sounded on the company street, and an orderly march is made to the breakfast table; 8.30, police duty, or cleaning up the grounds; 9-11, drill. The complete manual of arms is run off under the direction of Major Boyd, and Lieut. Joseph M. Reilly of Camp Devens puts the boys through a series of modern war maneuvers. 11.15, swimming. "Mac" McCann leads his followers over to Silver Lake and from then until noon it is one big splash. The beach is very good, being shallow and firm, and what few boys are not already proficient as swimmers are rapidly becoming so under Mr. McCann's skilful coaching. 12.00, dinner. Yesterday it was Irish stew with all the "fixings," and if that stew was originated in Ireland, well, small wonder that they praise the "old country." After dinner a general program of sports are enjoyed, ball games being one of the many features, which include boxing, wrestling, and races of all kinds. 4.30, dress parade and evening prayer. The boys have to be on their toes at this event, as Major Boyd and Chaplain Sullivan have sharp eyes. 6.00, supper; 6.30, camp fire and entertainment, including selections by the Cadet Drum corps, under the leadership of Capt. Joe Wedge and Lieut. Richard O'Shea. 9.15, call to quarters; 9.30, taps.

There are nearly 200 boys in camp at present, with a few late arrivals still expected, ranging in age from 12 to 18. The higher officers, also the hospital unit, are provided with "regular" bunks, and no doubt appreciate this distinction.

Major Boyd, who is a very young major, having only just turned nineteen, spoke very highly of the boys' conduct at camp, and said he expected it would be a very successful and joyous week for all concerned.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

James J. Gallagher, chairman of exemption board, division 4, is in receipt of a telegram stating that General Crowder has issued a new order to the effect that until further notice no certificates will be granted for enlistment to any registrant who has been or will be classified in class 1.

gathered there and reminded one of the scene when Co. M returned from the border several years ago. A few tearful eyes were intermingled with the smiles of those mothers, sisters and sweethearts who were bound to send their loved ones "away with a smile," despite the provocation for crying.

The train pulled out with cheers resounding on every side and once more Lowell had advanced generously the call of the nation.

Upon reaching Camp Devens the men were assigned to the Depot Brigade and will stay in this unit several weeks.

HAVE THOSE ROOMS REPAPERED NOW

The home must be kept bright and cheery in these war times. The soldier boy on furlough wants to walk into an atmosphere of sunny, smiling optimism—not a tomb of dingy, dismal despair. There is no cheaper or more effective way of keeping the home bright and cheerful than by frequent changes of the paper on the walls and ceilings. Another thing we can furnish a paper hanger just when you want him. NOW.

ADMIT FAILURE

German Papers Fear General Foch Has Gained Upper Hand in the West

Say American Troops Are Big Factor In Advance of the Allied Forces

WASHINGTON, July 23.—An official despatch yesterday from Switzerland says the German newspapers not only admit that the German offensive has failed, but express the fear that Gen. Foch has built up an army of reserves that will enable him to wrest the offensive from the German high command.

The Frankfurter Zeitung asserts that the entire strategic plan of Hindenburg is compromised by the attack on the Aisne-Marne front.

"Something new appears in the strategic situation," says this paper. "Gen. Foch has been able to form an important army of reserves. Foch's attack aims to deal a blow in the back of Boehm's army and should it be successful it might compel his army to retreat under most unfavorable conditions."

"Foch's attack threatens the whole of Hindenburg's plans."

The Strassburger Post says the public had in general attached too great hopes to the German offensive at Rheims, and asks:

"From where do these troops come that the American transports have really brought more quickly than they were expected?"

The Munchener Naueste Nachrichten says France is still very strong, that America has more than half a million soldiers in France, and that the English army has been reconstituted and put into a perfect state. It adds that it will take weeks perhaps to wrest the initiative from Gen. Foch.

The Koelnische Volk Zeitung says the fact must no longer be hidden that German deserters have made use of their knowledge of the plans of operations to betray their country.

ADMIT BIG AMERICAN

FORCES IN BATTLE

AMSTERDAM, July 23.—The German public is being told by all the German military experts that the French and American "ambitious attempt to break through" which, in Baron von Ardenne's words, "might have caused a decisive change in the military situation on the west front" has failed because of the famous German system of an elastic defense.

It is explained that the enemy only obtained initial successes due to the fact that Gen. von Boehm's right flank of 35 miles was not strongly held and his main strength lay on the eastern flank. Significant, however, is Baron von Ardenne's admission that Chateau-Thierry and Soissons were the two corner stones of the German defense and that the former had been lost to the foe, "who was aided by not inconsiderable American auxiliary forces."

The Wolff bureau's correspondent at the front does not fail to dwell on the "excessively severe" losses suffered by the Americans. These losses, he says, were due to the Americans being mixed for the first time with "savages and niggers" instead of with white French troops as heretofore. He said "at many points mountains of American dead lay in front of our positions."

The Cologne Gazette's war correspondent says that never before had the variegated enemy nationalities presented a more solid and compact front. "The present clash of hostile forces," he adds, "is the most gigantic and terrible conflict of mental and physical energy ever seen. There is no room for platitudes. Now begins the final phase of the war."

He asks the people at home to "follow the development of this stupendous struggle with the gravest attention for the enemy is now challenging us to put forth our very utmost efforts."

Other German writers exhort the German people to remember von Hindenburg's appeal for patience and his declaration that the battle plans must be allowed time to mature. A favorite assertion is that the enemy forces have been sensibly weakened and that von Hindenburg and Ludendorff will not allow the initiative to be wrested from their hands.

BACK FROM FRANCE

North Billerica Boy Returning from Battle Front Is in Hospital at Newport News

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Buckley of Talbot avenue, North Billerica have received a telegram, stating that their son, Private Charles L. Buckley, who went to France with an American regiment soon after this country entered the war, is now in a hospital at Newport News, Va. A letter was received from him several weeks ago in which he said that he was on his way home and that he might reach home before the letter arrived here. Consequently his parents have been expecting him every day since that time, but nothing had been heard from him until the telegram reached here yesterday.

Although not included in the list of Lowell men who went to Camp Devens this morning as announced by the local exemption boards, one of the most popular young men of the city, Michael T. Hennessy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hennessy, of 233 Fletcher street, was among the Lowell boys who answered the call of the national army. He went to the cantonment with the Haverhill delegation owing to the fact that he registered in that city.

Mr. Hennessy has been employed recently as a bookkeeper for the Cudahy Packing Co. of this city, but was previously in the employ of the Bay State Street Railway Co. and was stationed at Haverhill. He is a prominent member of St. Patrick's parish and well known throughout the city.

Like many other men called for the national army, he had previously attempted to volunteer for the naval service, but despite persistent efforts, was not accepted.

SLEPT ON COMMON

Monday night, the statisticians say, over 1500 people slept on the South and North commons, with the result that yesterday Supt. Kernan had a gang of men busily engaged in cleaning them up. A great deal of paper and rubbish was removed during the day.

BRITISH STRIKERS DEFY THE GOVERNMENT

LONDON, July 24.—The trades union advisory committee has been summoned by the ministry of munitions to a conference Thursday, to discuss the labor troubles at Coventry and the general labor position. How far the union officials will be able to influence the situation is impossible to say.

According to several reports from Coventry in the morning newspapers, the strikers are not only defying the government, but also the trades union leaders and have overthrown their local leaders. The number of men involved is from 9000 to 12,000, variously reported as 25 to 50 per cent of Coventry's total of munition workers.

Some reports are to the effect that the strikers are nearly all young men of military age who took refuge in the engineering trade from conscription earlier in the war and, it is said, are reported ready to go to any lengths to evade active service. On the other hand, one of the main causes of discontent is said to be the fact that the semi-skilled youngsters who have acquired all the engineering knowledge they possess during the war, are earning much higher wages than the older skilled men because the youngsters are paid at piece rates, while the older men get time rates. This is said to be only one among a complexity of grievances which can be traced, according to some reports, to bureaucratic ineptitude.

$70,000 LOSS CAUSED BY FIRE IN FITCHBURG

FITCHBURG, July 23.—A fire, which broke out last night in the three-story brick building on Main street, owned by George Freeman, burned the second and third stories and caused damage to the stock estimated at $70,000. The damage to the building will be about $20,000, which is partly covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered when flames broke through the third story. Shortly afterward an explosion took place and several of the windows were blown out. The interior of the third story was a mass of flames when the fire department arrived.

Volumes of heavy smoke poured from the structure, and the firemen experienced great difficulty in checking the blaze, which threatened the Simonds saw plant and the Universal Theatre block adjoining.

Ernest A. Stolba, a fireman, came in contact with a live electric wire and received a severe shock. He was removed to his home.

The fire was under control at 11 o'clock. The cause is unknown, but it is believed to have been due to spontaneous combustion.

The first floor was occupied by Frank G. Webber, furniture dealer; Carl G. Jensen, bakery; Arthur W. Pierce, shoes; A. G. Green, hardware, and Arthur W. Fairbanks, druggist. The H. M. Downes Printing Company occupied the second floor. There were also offices. Frank G. Perry also occupied part of the second and third stories for storage purposes.

The heavy loss by water was confined to the stock of A. G. Gruener, Carl G. Jensen, Arthur W. Pierce and Frank G. Perry, the latter loss being placed at $25,000. The Fitchburg hand lost a valuable library of music, valued at $1000, covered by insurance.

The cause of the fire will be investigated.

MAN WHO DIED IN PAWTUCKET, R. I., BELIEVED TO HAVE WORKED HERE

The local police received a telegram from Pawtucket, R. I., last night, stating that James Speak, aged 75, had died at the Memorial hospital in that city. A pay envelope with "Lowell, Mass." marked upon it was found in the man's pocket and this created the belief that he had been employed in munitions work in this city. The telegram asks the police to locate his relatives.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE ALUMNI

Owing to the heat the attendance at last evening's meeting of the members of St. Joseph's college alumni was not very large, but nevertheless plans for the annual outing to be held on Thursday, Aug. 3 were formed and other business was transacted. President John B. Richards occupied the chair and new members were initiated. It was announced that a feature of the outing will be a baseball game between two fast teams of the organization, while other sporting events will be conducted at the outing. The nomination of officers, which was scheduled to be held last evening, was postponed until the next meeting of the election to be held later.

BURGULARS ARRESTED IN BOSTON

ADMIT STORE BREAK IN TEWKSBURY

Frank Carroll, Elmer Freeman and a third young man named Blake, who were arrested in Boston for breaking into the premises numbered 1494 Washington street, Boston, admitted, so the police claim, to breaking and entering the store of Louis H. Farmer in Tewksbury Centre last week and having stolen cigars and cigars. Freeman and Blake had revolvers in their possession when arrested, while Carroll also admitted having had one, but he said he pawned it. The young men were arrested in a suite in the South End, Boston. Their cases were continued for a week.

HEAT WAVE BROKEN

BOSTON, July 24.—The heat wave which has been over New England several days, causing scores of prostrations and several deaths, was broken today by a shift of the wind to the east and an overcast sky. Although the temperature dropped to 74 degrees in this city at noon, a number of prostrations were reported.

Fresh Beef Travels on a Rapid Schedule

Fresh beef for domestic markets gets from stockyards to retail stores within a period of about two weeks. Although chilled, this meat is not frozen; hence it cannot be stored for a rise in price.

A steer is dressed usually within twenty-four hours after purchase by the packer. The beef is held in a cooler at the packing house, at a temperature a little above freezing, for about three days.

It is then loaded into a refrigerator car, where a similar temperature is maintained, and is in transit to market on an average of about six days.

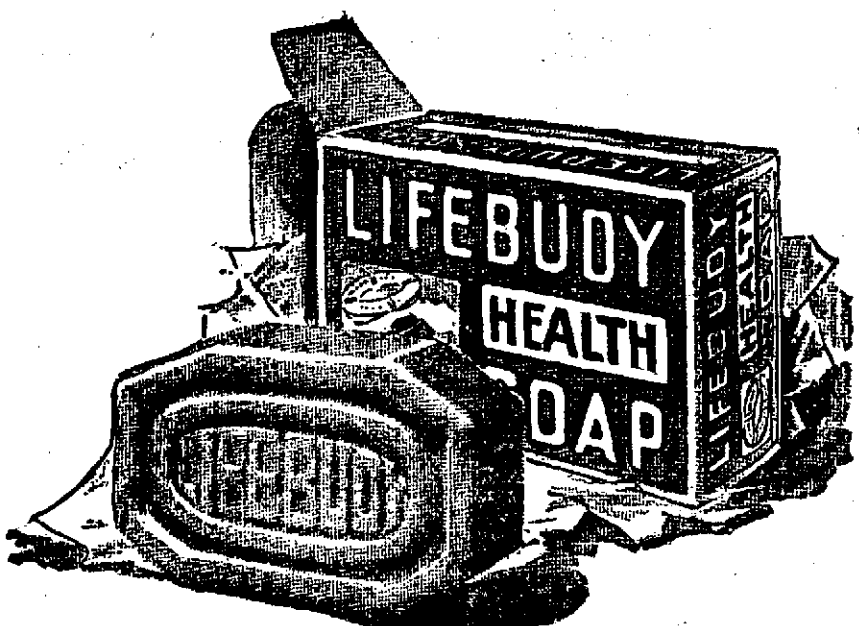

Upon arrival at the branch distributing house, it is unloaded into a "cooler", and placed on sale.

Swift & Company requires all beef to be sold during the week of arrival, and the average of sales is within five days.

Any delay along the above journey means deterioration in the meat and loss to the packer.

What happens when you wash?

We all use soap—do you know why?

We all know that water alone will not remove dirt, but how does soap do it?

The moment soap and water come into contact with the skin, soap separates into two parts.

One part dissolves and absorbs the impurities in the pores. The other part forms a lather which takes up these impurities, together with dirt and dust, and carries them off into the water.

A new standard for cleansing—antiseptic cleanliness

The skin contains millions of open mouths. Through these mouths the skin filters out perspiration at the rate of a quart every twenty-four hours. In this perspiration are acids and waste matter from the system. These, together with excess oils from the skin, are constantly accumulating on the face, hands and body, and gathering up dust and impurities.

It was the necessity of really cleansing the pores of the skin—keeping them antiseptically clean—that gave the biggest soap makers in the world the idea of making a health soap.

Purifies every pore—keeps the skin clear and healthy

At the same time, the healthful antiseptic which

Lifebuoy contains is carried right into the pores of the skin. This purifies the skin—leaves it antiseptically clean. It counteracts the effects of acids and impurities that keep accumulating on the skin, prevents skin irritations, keeps skin clear, lovely, glowing with health!

The odor tells you why

The "health" odor in Lifebuoy is found in no other soap. It is not a perfume—not the odor of a medicine—but a pure, hygienic odor that tells you instantly why the soap benefits your skin. Stimulating, invigorating, refreshing! One whiff of Lifebuoy, and you realize why it cleanses so thoroughly—why it purifies and protects—why it improves your skin.

Get a cake of Lifebuoy at any grocery or drug store. Start using it today for your face—hands—bath—and watch your skin improve.

Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

"I thoroughly enjoy Lifebuoy—it gives the skin the protection everyone needs."

SEVERE CONDEMNATION OF STATE PRISON

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 24.—Severe condemnation of the state prison at Charlestown is contained in a report of the Massachusetts bureau of prisons, made public today. The members of the bureau also take occasion to criticize the practice of the courts in sending old and hardened criminals to the Massachusetts reformatory to mingle with young boys.

"From the standpoint of physical equipment," the bureau says, "the state prison, a product of the eighteenth century, may be classed as one of the worst prisons for the incarceration of felons in the United States. It is to be borne in mind that no person

Relative to the Massachusetts reformatory, the bureau says:—"As its name indicates, this institution was established for the purpose of effecting the reformation of young men who had not become confirmed in the ways of crime. It is to be regretted that its purpose is apparently discarded by the judges. There is too little care taken by the courts in sentencing men to this institution, with the result that young boys are thrown together with men between thirty and forty years of age, some of whom have served sentences in county institutions, and in not a few instances in state prisons outside of Massachusetts."

The Germans have changed their minds in regard to the number of Americans now in France. Formerly they discredited the story that one million Americans had reached France, stating that the total number could not be more than 300,000. Now they aver that instead of one million Americans being in France, there must be ten million. The Germans have evidently been impressed by the American method of fighting. In other words, they have had a taste of good American steel.

REPUBLICAN NON-PARTISANSHIP

Some republican papers put on a transparent pretense of getting away from partisan politics. Among these are the Boston Transcript and Boston Herald, both of which are quite willing that in strong democratic districts all opposition should be withdrawn. Thus, for example, the Transcript is willing to allow Congressman Gallivan and Teague, two democrats, to be renominated and elected without opposition. This is in line with an announcement made by some republican leaders who wish to conserve all the party's energy and all its funds for contests in which republican candidates will have a fighting chance of success. This is what they call "the elimination of partisanship" in politics.

In return for this compliment the same papers suggest that the democrats withdraw all opposition against certain republican candidates in doubtful districts. Thus the object of their proposition is revealed. We may expect the leopard to change his spots ere the Boston Transcript will put aside its political partisanship.

THE U-BOATS

The visit of the U-boats to the New England coast and their spectacular exploits in sinking a few barges is intended to create a scare for the purpose of discouraging Americans. In this the enemy will be woefully disappointed. The Americans will not run away from this frightfulness. Rather will they run after it and keep up their search until they finally clear the U-boats from eastern waters.

The U-boat did not condescend to recognize the formality of allowing the crews of the sunken vessel an opportunity to escape. That would not savor sufficiently of the real character of German frightfulness.

The Germans are undoubtedly planning to get some of our American transports loaded with troops. In that they have not thus far succeeded, thanks to the vigilance of the convoys provided for these troop ships.

We have proof now, that submarines are operating along the American coast, and every effort must be made to get them. The fogs that occasionally settle down along the New England coast are very favorable to the operations of the U-boats. Just at present, however, the weather is clear and there is but slight chance of any heavy fog, at least for some weeks perhaps.

We have a long coast line and the sea lanes are hard to protect against these unseen marauders. But this very fact must add to the extent of the precautions adopted to defeat their activity and finally bag them.

GERMAN FRIGHTFULNESS

In the early days of the war the Hun machine cast itself against British colonials with great desperation and with the hope of destroying the morale of the men at the front and that of the people at home. Some of these drives were conceived and carried out against Canadians and Australians with all the frightfulness that even the Hun ingenuity could invent. The gas attacks were first directed against the Canadians when the latter were wholly unprepared to meet that form of warfare. The results, however serious, only stirred the people to greater determination to meet them. As a result greater armies were sent to the front and the men were equipped with gas masks and every other appliance necessary for their protection.

The Huns apparently are trying the same methods on the American troops, but they have had very poor success. The Americans have simply dashed through the German forces wherever they meet them, with the result that instead of the Americans fearing the Germans, the Germans are now in real terror of the Americans. The splendid work of our American soldiers must have inspired every true American to back them up in every way possible, and particularly to keep the essential industries moving so that all necessary equipment may be provided for our armies now so nobly fighting for world freedom and sweeping the German hordes back to the Rhine. Thus will German frightfulness eventually prove the undoing of its authors. The Prussian junkers in their ruthless war policy and insatiable ambition, have been sowing the traditional dragon's teeth which will ultimately rise up as armed men to accomplish their destruction.

In view of the numerous drownings in the course of the summer months, it is pertinent to suggest that every man, woman and child in this land should be able to swim. As a precaution against drowning accidents that are very common, it should be required that every child leaving school should be able to swim. Indeed we believe that this should be made a condition of graduation at our grammar schools. Such compulsion would make it imperative upon the city to conduct a swimming school at which all the children could learn enough of the art for all practical purposes. Soldiers in the army in emergencies may save their lives by being fairly good swimmers. In recent battles spanning the Marne and other rivers in France many soldiers on both sides found it necessary to swim across the rivers either to save their lives or to gain some point of vantage in their campaign.

When a ship is torpedoed on the high seas and the crew and passengers are obliged perhaps to jump into the sea, unless they can swim at least for a short time, their chances of rescue are simply negligible. In such cases the good swimmer can generally get hold of a raft or some fragment of wreckage that will aid him in keeping above water until relief arrives.

But it is in childhood that the art is most necessary in saving life. Boys and sometimes girls also, will persist in playing around canals, rivers and lakes and bathing therein in hot weather with the result that many of them get drowned if they cannot swim.

The late Harry W. J. Ilwaco took the trouble to count the drownings in our local waterways—the canals and rivers—and roughly estimated that the victims all told number 1000. They have averaged about one per month in the past dozen years and despite the life saving apparatus, up to last year the number had not been reduced. This year the swimming place up the river, and the wading pool on the South common has kept many away from the dangerous places and undoubtedly has saved lives. The ice park off Rogers street has also prevented drownings in the winter. It is well to increase these public utilities which keep young people away from the rivers and canals; but while these are to be encouraged, still it is better by far as a safeguard against drowning to teach all the children to swim.

AN APPEAL TO LOYALTY

The National Service section of the Emergency Fleet corporation has started a campaign to offset the insidious propaganda that promotes strikes in factories in which government work is being done. This incitement of honest labor to go into voluntary idleness is the only form of propaganda left in which enemy aliens can keep up their disloyal work under the safe disguise of standing for the rights of labor.

The government realizes that the factory workers all over this country are honest and patriotic as a class; but here and there mixing with them there is an avowed enemy of our government, a member of the I.W.O., an alien in the service of Germany who may be well paid for fomenting discord among operatives employed on government orders, persuading them that they should receive higher wages and enjoy better working conditions. Other forms of propaganda are easily proved by evidence that will convict, but this is very difficult to prove. For that reason the government has instituted this campaign in order that all the factory operatives may be duly warned of any of these insidious workers in their midst and thus enabled to avoid being drawn into schemes which are well planned to aid the enemy. All kinds of people are employed at the various factories. It is impossible to test the loyalty of all, but if all the loyal operatives are constituted as so many detectives on those who may be guilty of disloyal acts, the culprits will soon be found out and punished.

Hence able speakers, who have seen years of service in the war, have been sent out to address the employees of great factories where government orders are in hand. They visualize for these people the actual horrors of war, although still reserving much that they cannot tell, for every soldier who leaves the trenches is pledged not to tell all he saw.

There are things so terrible in war as to make the average person shudder to hear them described. Better, therefore, to avoid such narratives and deal only with the great issues involved, the splendid work of our men and the absolute necessity of keeping up the supply of ammunition and equipment, not only for our armies but for those of our allies.

Imagine the disaster that would result if in the great turning movement now being conducted by General Foch, the supply of food or of ammunition should run short! Never before was any army transported across the ocean with half the speed with which our troops have been taken through the zones infested with submarines. While the troops were being thus secretly dispatched to the seat of war, the demand for supplies and equipment of all kinds was incessant and persistent. The employees of the munition factories were not notified of these demands. They only noticed a speeding up all over the factory and not realizing the cause, some were apt to think the management of the shop was pushing things with a high hand.

Since hearing from the speakers who have addressed them, the munition and other factory workers now understand the situation; they know that the speeding is due to the urgent demand of the government for more ammunition, more guns, more ships, more food, more clothing, more of everything our soldiers need in fighting the greatest war ever waged in a manner that has brought fresh glory to our army and to our republic.

It is well that such men as Captain Cameron and Corporal Street have come here to explain the situation to all of us, so that whether in the factory or the home we may discharge our full duty to the nation more cheerfully and avoid anything that might hinder the stupendous work of prosecuting this war for world freedom.

SEEN AND HEARD

Well, at least the weather man was patriotic enough to give those German U-boats off the coast a hot reception.

Wonder why the municipal council had to start discussing 120-pound pressure boilers on a morning when it was 90 in the shade.

We know that this is old stuff but still it has a lot of cooling atmosphere about it. Here goes; how would you like to be the loeman now?

A flash of lightning in the black sky, a clap of thunder from the hands of Jove—and one more perfectly good bed receives a shivering occupant!

Abutting on the Highway

A resident of a rural town owned a goat which was a very intelligent animal. As it had a great habit of suddenly coming up behind the unwary, it failed to win the good will of the neighbors. Who at last decided to consult the borough officials.

A few days later the owner was served with a notice that he must pay 50 cents assessment tax on the animal, which he promptly refused, and demanded to know under what statute a goat could be assessed. The by-laws were hunted up and sure enough the provision was there. By-law 12, subsection 2: "Anything abutting on the highway," etc.—"Rebott Sunday Herald."

Have you ever noticed the busy bee? At his gossiping buzz. Or the little robin red breast? While he learns to fly?

Have you ever noticed the little brook? Go busily flowing by. Or the beautiful clouds of blue and gold? That float up in the sky?

And have you ever noticed? The pretty little dove? Well then, you must have noticed God tends them all with love. THERESA CORBY MELCANCON.

Old Suggestion Renewed

The proposition to generate electric power in the basement of city hall to light the municipal building, Memorial building, the high school and the Green grammar school, which was introduced by Commissioner Warnock at Monday's meeting of the municipal council brought to the minds of the old timers a similar proposition brought up by Mayor James A. Bennett in 1895. At that time Mayor Bennett advocated the taking over of the Coburn estate at Malden and Merrimack streets and installing there a plant which would heat and light several municipal buildings.

COAL

It's glorious news from the front with the sap-head crown prince about to make a sprint for the rear. What rejoicing these will be if that skunk is ever captured. Wouldn't you like to sit on the commission that would determine his fate? We would, and we would guarantee to mete out to him a punishment commensurate with his crimes if that were possible. That's the upmost thought in our mind this morning though our business is to talk coal.

On business we would say that the wise ones are phoning and calling in to order their SOFT COAL supply. We believe, and with good reason, that our hard coal supply will be adequate for our demands and all our teams and trucks will soon be put on Anthracite deliveries. Just now we are in good condition to deliver your steam coal and you will render us and yourself a fine service if you will let us put it in now.

And please don't forget our public-partnership plan and the shares you may take in our company. We are adding new stockholders every day and if they were all lined up on John street they would make some parade, and when we hold our annual meeting in this city it will take a hall of some size to hold them all.

During this hot spell eat lightly, fruit, crackers and milk and things like that; don't rush around, don't worry and come in and see us and become a member of our company. We want you. You need us.

German Viewpoint

Here is a sample of what all the Hun, the conceit that smells to the skies, Baron von Stengel talking to himself:

We Germans have been chosen by Providence from among all the other people to march at the head of all civilized nations and lead them under our protection toward assured peace.

For we not only have the power and force necessary for this mission, but we also possess all the spiritual gifts to the highest degree, and in all creation it is we who constitute the crown of civilization.

The nations have only one means of leading a profitable existence. It is to submit to our guidance, which is superior from every point of view.—Pittsburg Post.

Only Thing to Do

George Washington Jones, late of Atlanta, was making his first trip frontward on a supply wagon—with not much farther to go—when, from the side of the road, a camouflaged American battery broke forth thunderously, sending a few 300-pound tokens over the line to Fritz. The ground trembled from the salvo, but not any more than George, as he jumped from the high seat to the road.

The American artillery officer in charge of the battery crossed over to the road.

"Scared?" he demanded. "Well," George said, "Ah was slightly agitated at first. Ah suddenly was. But keep right on. That's the only way to win this war—flah dem guns."—Stars and Stripes.

His Concealed Wish

Two men were seated at a table in a saloon, one of them annoying the other customers by his maudlin attempts to sing something that had a strong German air, although the words were apparently English. The proprietor approached.

"Cut out that singing in here," he remonstrated. "This ain't no amateur night for cabarets."

The singer subsided and took another

AMERICANS TAKE OVER SEAPLANE STATION

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, July 24.—(By The Associated Press.)

American aviators yesterday took over from the British one of the most important seaplane stations on the English coast, from which they will do continuous patrol duty over a large area of the sea.

The American aviators stationed on the English coast have heretofore been working as part of the British squadrons, and this the first purely American station in England.

SAN DIEGO MISSING LIST CUT TO EIGHT

WASHINGTON, July 24.—All but eight of the 59 men reported missing after the sinking of the armored cruiser San Diego off Fire Island, N. Y., last Friday, have been accounted for, said an announcement last night by the navy department. Further reports are expected to reduce this number.

The men still unaccounted for are: Clyde Bain, Lamieka, Calif.; George W. Farin, Akron, Ia.; Leon Goodrich, Fairport, N. Y.; Wilfrid Larson, Mammoth, Utah; Henry H. Law, White Plains, N. Y.; Andrew Munson, St. Paul; Silas Watters, Gainesville, Ga., and James H. Compton, San Jose, Calif.

er drink, but his companion urged him to continue, expressing great admiration for the air.

"What do you mind the likes of him for?" he asked. "Sure, it's a fine song. Go ahead with it."

The resumption of the disjointed notes brought the proprietor to the table again.

"See here, you," he began, with a rap of his knuckles on the table, "cut that singing right now, or I'll have you thrown out."

Standing not far off to be sure that the selection was not continued, the proprietor overheard the second man urging the singer to go ahead and after another drink the song was resumed. Stepping up to the table with fire in his eye the boss addressed himself to the second man.

"What do you keep asking him to sing for?" he demanded. "If you are so stucco on his singing take him somewhere else and listen to it all you like."

"Singing!" retorted the other. "I don't care about his singing. I want to see him thrown out."—New York Sun.

Made a Good Trade

A very interesting story came to light Sunday, when it was related that a very distinguished minister of the Methodist church, Dr. Plato Durham, had been held up on Thursday night by a young white man as he alighted from his car and started toward the place where he was stopping, he having just returned from a session of the state Sunday school convention at the First Methodist church.

The minister got off the car, and as he walked half a block away and the car vanished he was confronted by a man who thrust a cocked pistol into his stomach and demanded that his hands go up.

"No, I won't raise my hands. But what do you want? There is no need to shoot; just tell me what you want and I will give you anything that I have," said Dr. Durham.

"I want money, and I need it badly, and I am going to have it," replied the highwayman, who was wearing a mask.

"Well, I have $9, a five and four ones, here," replied Dr. Durham, "and I will give you the four and I will keep the five, for I am a Methodist minister, and you know that we preachers don't have much money, so I think you ought to leave me the big end of it."

"Well, I'll be d—," replied the amateur road agent, "ain't this a h— of a business for a white man to be engaged in!"

"Why, this is a nigger's job; but I tell you I need the money, and I need it bad, so give me the five and keep the four ones."

"No; I think you ought to leave me the biggest pile, for I am hard up, to," replied the preacher; "so here are the four ones, and I will keep the five-spot," and he handed the nightman the four one-dollar notes.

"All right," said the unknown masked man; "but you won't shoot at I walk away, or you won't report this to the police, will you?"

"No," replied Dr. Plato Durham, and he has up to this hour kept his word.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

THE OPEN FORUM

Dr. Charles F. Carter of Hartford Speaker at Last of Open Forum Meetings

"Does Might Make Right?"
Was Subject of Interesting Address

"After the war we must take our part in the partnership of nations, we must furnish our share of capital and not look for exclusive advantages," said Dr. Charles F. Carter of Hartford, Conn., at the last of a series of six open forum meetings held last evening in Room 1 of the high school before a small audience.

Dr. Carter's subject was "Does Might Make Right?" He was introduced by Hugh J. Molloy and his address was, in part, as follows:

"This war is the most colossal thing, historically, that has ever happened in any of our experiences and in anything that we have read of. For once, we can't use superlatives to any unwarrantable degree. In spite of that, one of the chief things which I am concerned to say is that the war itself is only an incident in the progress of civilization which is the real issue of the present crisis.

"No matter how long we live, we are going to be fighting the issue of this war. Some people ask 'When is the war going to end?' It is not going to end in our generation as far as its essential issue is concerned.

"It is for us at home to build up a new civilization. Gunpowder never developed civilization. This war is going to wipe clean the slate of civilization. That is one of the direct results which is coming out of it. It's an issue on a world-wide scale.

"Does might make right? If we asked that four years ago, we would have been told that it would furnish an excellent theme for school children to write about or to discuss as an academic question in high school halls. But think of the change. Today it is no academic question. Germany has taken the affirmative.

"While the question of might is being worked out in Flanders a deeper question is being worked out at home: Will our might, which may come to us after the war, make right? That is the question which has a bearing not only on Germany, but on a world policy. Is there something supreme in this universe and is that 'something' right?

"World domination is a sentiment that has honeycombed the rules of thinking in all branches of German life. Its emissaries and exponents have been sent throughout the German empire. These sentiments are in the saddle today and indicate the path on which we must deal with the German people.

"What are some of the effects of a great moral law? We recognize such a term as right. In all our dealings with our fellow-men we must either turn to the right path or the wrong. The moral law compels the decent man to take the right path. If he bows to this law he becomes a bigger and richer man because his fellow-men bow under the same law.

"The moral law makes a man an asset to the community and makes the community an asset to the man. The most significant development in human history has been the development of the moral law. Our city, state and nation have learned the application of it, but civilization has balked. The sovereign state is the largest unit in civilization and that is the trouble. Civilization has balked and one great sovereign state has taken the specious side of the question of might or right.

"It is heresy to mankind to admit the doctrine that might makes right and because it is so, it is for every man to insist that nations as well as individuals become subject to one standard because in that alone is the real hope of progress.

"There is no one among us today who has the ears of humanity as has our president. If we were to take away all the personality from his phrases they would still stand out as historically important.

"These are not decorations of discourse, but stars of international faith, stars for guidance. We must know of these sentiments expressed by our president simply that we may enthrone the superb ideas in the minds of humanity because they answer the question: 'Does might make right?'

"Right alone is, and must be, supreme in world affairs. If we are to live up to this doctrine, there's going to be a great transformation in the world. We've come to the point where internationalism is the order of the day and if we are to play our part in that new order we must observe three fundamental principles. First, we must have a new spirit of diplomacy. We must come out in the open before the nations, lay our cards on the table and tell what we want. We must be willing to be instructed by other nations. We must take the world into our confidence regarding our ambitions. We must take our part in the partnership of nations and furnish our share of the capital and not look for exclusive advantages.

"In the second place, there must be a new economic practice. Our leading business men must be apostles of the new law. We want men of the type who so readily left their business interests to go into war work, to be ready to throw themselves into the work of the future. It won't be Utopian idealism; there will be rivalry but it will be friendly rivalry and the spirit of competition will be yoked with the spirit of co-operation. I believe that an economic war after the present military struggle would be a greater calamity than the war has been.

"In the third place, we must deal politically with a new organization of nations. How shall we do it? A league to enforce peace? No, because we've got to have something higher than a police club behind the organization. An international court of appeal? No, we've got to get away from police court ideas. We must have a body so endowed with power that it can take the initiative to see where conflicts are liable to arise and to make preparation against them. We must have an international court, not of appeal, but of constructive power. To that, our statesmen are called upon to address themselves and the power of

Hebrew Boys Entering the Service Are Presented Bibles and Wrist Watches

Big Celebration Last Evening at the Hebrew Free School in Howard Street

The ten Hebrew boys who are entering the service this week, were given a fine send-off at the Hebrew Free school on Howard street, last evening. Although the temperature was anything but normal, the upper room of the school was completely filled with friends of the boys and outsiders who had come to listen to the speechmaking which was part of the affair.

The 10 boys were Sidney Greenberg, William Sydenman and William Rifken, who have enlisted in the U. S. navy; William Korobken and Max Tutin, both about to become members of the Jewish regiment of the British expeditionary force to Palestine; Harry Bodonoff, Henry Smith, G. William Carp, Israel Carp and Abraham Cohen, for Camp Devens.

Abraham S. Goldman, local representative of the Jewish Welfare board, made the opening address, speaking on public influence which is in all of us will also be called upon.

Kaiser Must Go

"A very pregnant statement has been made in connection with the war. It is: 'Every Kaiser must go.' The Kaiser lurks everywhere and we must be able to recognize him when we see him. The Kaiser in industry, the Kaiser in labor and the Kaiser in law must all go. From football to finance, the man who tries to outwit the empire is a Kaiser and he must go. In our economic life we must maintain the principle that right must prevail."

At the conclusion of his address Dr. Carter answered a number of questions. It was announced that the meeting was the final of the forum series until further notice.

"Mission, Responsibilities, Functions and Opportunities of welfare service in the community." He said, in part:

"For the first time in the history of America we have in the Jewish Welfare board an organization which not only has the official endorsement of the government, but likewise of organized American Jewry. But it is not enough that we speak for our government and for the nationally organized Jewry of America. Our purpose is unfulfilled unless we also represent the locally organized Jewish people of America, or to put it in other language, the local Jewish communities.

"It is from the local communities that the soldiers have come. It is to those communities that they will return. Indeed, in 10 or a score of years from now, these 80,000 or 100,000, or possibly 150,000 Jews of our National army and navy will be the Jewish citizens, the upholders of our Jewish communities, the leaders and workers of our local Jewries. If we would have them remain steadfast to these communities through all the tragic days through which they must presently pass, they must feel the spiritual forces of these communities behind them. They must know that this force is with them wherever they may be.

"Apart from this, the National Jewish Welfare board is in the truest sense the child of the local communities, as well as of the national Jewish organizations. It is to the local communities that we turn for both moral and financial support. We look to them, moreover, for definite service in addition. We expect each community to send its Jewish boys into the service with a formal expression of its belief in them, so that each man may feel the power and strength of his community behind him. We expect each community to follow its soldiers with gifts, by correspondence and other aid, and by visitation to their families. We expect each community meanwhile, to prepare for the return of these young men, for their readjustment to civil life, for the rehabilitation of their families, and the new adjustments in the work of the social agencies of each town, that these changes imply.

"It was in the thoughts of all this that the welfare board, unlike the Knights of Columbus and Y.M.C.A., incorporated in its platform as program of town work, as well as the camp-work program. For the past six months it has worked incessantly in the organization of what it calls local branches. At the present day, 55 Jewish communities have organized themselves as J. W. B. branches. Twenty more are in process of organization. Before the end of this year, the welfare board plans to have organized no less than 200 local Jewries as welfare board branches.

"The results of this policy have already proven the wisdom of it. It has stimulated widespread interest in soldier and sailor work. This is particularly true of those centres of Jewish life which are more remote from large encampments. In the camp cities, or camp towns, the presence of uniformed men has of itself stimulated this interest, and it may be truly said that the real welfare workers are the Jews and Jewesses of these camp sites. Long before the organization of the welfare board, these Jews were giving up their time and energies and of their means to the entertainment of men on leave, to visitation of the sick, and comfort to the lonely and dejected. But in the towns more remote from the camps—and these are the large cities for the most part—this stimulation of interest has been provided by the organization of the welfare branch, on the basis of which efforts have been inaugurated for the furtherance of our national plans and projects. The National Jewish Welfare board desires itself to be in the truest sense the representative of local Jewries. It is the local communities organized, combined and raised to national self consciousness. In this view of the case, the national office is but the visible expression of a covenant or pact between all the local communities of America, each of which desires to serve the most by serving all the rest."

Representative Murphy

Rep. Dennis A. Murphy was next called and he spoke on "The Progress of the War." Speaking of the necessity for all of us to stand together against the common enemy, he said:

"It is a war of democracy against autocracy. There isn't any doubt of it, and the best thought of the entire world is banded together to destroy this thing which would creep up to us and, in one blow, knock our democracy to pieces. Now is the time to down that thing, down it to the ground and the only way to down it is to look Germany and Austria so that they will never try to impose their rotten systems on the world again. It can be no milk-and-water defeat that has got to be handed out to these people who, in their arrogance, seek to own the world. It must be a thrashing, a thrashing so that those German soldiers in legions shall come forward and shout 'Kamerad! Kamerad!' Not a few of them, but the whole of them, the entire nation, must give up its purpose of world conquest. Until it does there can be no peace in the world for any of us." The representative was cheered loud and long.

Mayor Thompson

Mayor Perry D. Thompson spoke on "Aims and Ideals of America in the War." His Honor said: "There can be no drawing back now, for America is in this war to the end. It is peculiarly a bringing together of every force that lies within this country. Men may be of Jewish, or Irish, or Scottish, or any other extraction, but America stands bigger than any mere extraction. It is the greatest, purest democracy in the world, and it espouses the cause of democracy against the robbers of the world. It could not be otherwise if we are to live up to our noble traditions. America could no more stay out of this war than she could consult suicide. Everything Germany did, everything she said, held the earmark of the rankest autocracy. America holds the very essence of democracy and so must lead the democracies of the world in their fight to overthrow Prussian kultur and militarism."

William H. Wilson

William H. Wilson, Esq., then spoke a few words on the efficient and conscientious work of the local legal advisory board, who have given their best services to the end that only those who are most fit shall be called on to man the trenches.

Bibles, prayer books and wrist watches were then presented to the youthful soldiers-to-be, also a large Zionist flag to the boys who go to Palestine, by Isadore I. Green.

Mrs. Nana Gallagher-Leahy was the soloist of the evening, and her efforts were greatly appreciated. Rabbi Elias Wolfson conferred the rabbinical benediction.

The committee in charge of the affair were: Chairman A. S. Goldman, Esq., Sol. Baker, Esq., Simon Rostler, Isadore I. Green and Dr. Harvey Ginsberg.

HER DAUGHTER WAS SAVED FROM OPERATION

Mrs. Wells of Petersburg Tells How.

Petersburg, Va.—"For two years my daughter suffered from a weakness and pains in her right side; at times she was so bad she could not do any work. For two years she was attended by the best physicians here, and both agreed that she would have to be operated on. I suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and at first she refused to take it, but finally consented. From the very beginning it helped her, and now she is entirely well, and telling everybody how much good it has done her."

—Mrs. W. D. WELLS, 226 North Adams Street, Petersburg, Va.

If every girl who suffers as Miss Wells did, or from irregularity, painful periods, backache, headache, dragging down pains, inflammation or ulceration would only give this famous root and herb remedy a trial they would soon find relief from such suffering.

The letters constantly being published from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

FUNERAL POSTPONED

Mysterious Circumstances Surrounding Death of Amanda Millette

Owing to the mysterious circumstances surrounding her death, the funeral of Amanda Millette, aged 23, which was to have taken place this morning, was ordered postponed by Medical Examiner T. B. Smith, following an autopsy on the body. The cause of the death has not yet been determined.

Miss Sybil Nairne, daughter of Sir Gordon Nairne, an official of the Bank of England, has been decorated by the British government for nursing and administering to the wounded soldiers of the French and English armies while under fire on the west front. She will soon be wedded to Captain Basil Laing Clay of the Royal Coast army.

THE BEST MAP OF THE YANK DRIVE

This map, drawn by Staff Artist Deitesfeld from French military topographical maps and cabled descriptions, shows to excellent advantage the difficulties of terrain which the American troops have had to overcome in their great drive between Soissons and Chateau-Thierry. It also shows the extent of the American gains since June 6, when Pershing's boys started the attacks that gained Vaux and Belleau wood.

mined and the police are investigating the case. Dr. Smith later gave his consent to have the funeral take place tomorrow morning.

Until five or six weeks ago Amanda Millette was employed at a local mill. She had been living at the home of other parents, 183 Perkins street, with her six-year-old son, Leo. Last Thursday evening, however, she left her home and said that she was going to visit an aunt in Gorham street.

She failed to return that evening or the next day, but Saturday afternoon word was sent to her mother's home that she was very sick in a house in Prince street. Later she was removed to her parents' home and despite medical effort, died Monday morning.

The body was embalmed by the undertaker and preparations made for the funeral this morning. On Monday evening, however, Dr. Smith ordered the body removed to the undertaker's parlors and an autopsy was performed. This morning, further supplementary orders were received from Dr. Smith, postponing the funeral until tomorrow.

Inspector Walsh of the police department called at the room Saturday evening but she was unconscious at the time and never regained consciousness.

The Stock Markets
NEW YORK, July 24.—Stocks continued their uncertain course at the opening today. Firm to strong features included Industrial Alcohol, Texas Company, Marine preferred, Sumatra Tobacco and Tobacco Products; while Crucible and Midvale Steels, Chesapeake & Ohio, and United Fruit were among the heavy issues. U. S. Steel made a nominal advance with leading rails.

Liberty bonds were steady. U. S. Steel's advance of a point infused irregular strength to the general list in the first hour, but steel was freely offered on the rise, cancelling all its gain before noon. Pressed Steel Car, American Car, American Smelting and a few utilities were included among the temporary gains of 1 to 3 points. Rails were heavy and Western Union supplemented yesterday's loss. Sumatra Tobacco was most erratic, advancing a point and reacting seven. Liberty 31-2s were specially firm at 99.70 to 99.90, 4s selling at 93.94 to 94.62 and 41-4s at 95.54 to 95.70.

The market rallied variably in the afternoon. Sumatra recovering three points and St. Paul issues 1 to 1 1/2. U. S. Steel fully recovered from its reaction of the noon hour, but minor metals, notably Butte & Superior, were weak, losing 1 to 2 1/2 points.

U. S. Steel, Baldwin Locomotive and Reading featured the active issues at highest levels in the last hour. The close was strong. Liberty 31-2s sold at 99.70 to 99.90, 4s at 93.93 to 94.62 and 41-4s at 95.52 to 95.70.

U. S. PROPOSAL TO JAPAN CAUSES CONTROVERSY

TOKIO, Friday, July 19. (By Press Associate A. Press.)—America's proposal relative to the Siberian situation has precipitated a dramatic controversy between the military groups and political parties, while it is strongly supported by the business interest. Army influence which is particularly reflected in cabinet circles, urges intervention, but the Sui-Yukai and the Kenseikai are exercising an unexpected influence which acts as a check on the interventionists.

It is understood that a compromise will be effected by which the American proposal for a joint expedition will be accepted.

END HEARING ON INCREASED FARES

PORTLAND, Me., July 24.—Acceptance today by the Cumberland County Power and Light Co. of the suggestions of Robert M. Feustal, the state's engineer, for a schedule of fares on the electric car lines in Portland and suburbs, brought to an abrupt termination the hearings before the public utilities commission on the company's petition for increased fares.

Chairman Benj. F. Cleaves said the commission would accept the agreement reached between the attorney general and counsel for the company. Fares in the old city limits will not be increased from five cents. On the lines to the suburbs the rate will be six cents, instead of eight which the company desired, and on the more remote places the fares will be regulated on the basis of two cents a mile. Additional revenue of $119,490 is expected to be produced by the advance.

Describes Attack on Justicia

LONDON, July 24.—The Belfast Telegraph says that land had just been lost sight of when a terrific explosion shook the Justicia. The crew was speedily mustered on deck, but it was soon ascertained that the damage was so trivial that the liner would remain afloat for a sufficient period to enable her to be towed to port.

A tug pulled alongside the liner for this purpose, when two more torpedoes were fired by a submarine which had not been sighted. These missiles passed between the liner and the tug.

Further attempts were made by the submarine to torpedo the Justicia during Friday night, but all failed. It was not until Saturday morning, and after the submarine had expended numerous torpedoes, that the destruction was accomplished.

The final attempt was made at eight o'clock on Saturday morning when two torpedoes hit the ship. One struck the engine room, causing a violent explosion, and the other penetrated a forehold.

The liner was in tow at the time. As she did not sink until 2 o'clock in the afternoon there was time to transfer the crew to rescuing ships.

Valued at $10,000,000

NEW YORK, July 24.—The Justicia was the second largest ship sunk during the war. The Britannia, a White Star liner of 45,000 gross tons, was sunk in the Aegean sea, in November, 1916. The Lusitania was about 32,000 tons.

Officials of the Holland-America line, for which the Justicia was built and to which she would have reverted after the war, said today she was valued at $10,000,000 and was built to be one of the fastest passenger ships in transatlantic service.

On her last trip from an Atlantic port, she was commanded by Captain A. E. Hambleton and carried nearly 10,000 troops. She was a triple screw turbine driven vessel capable of 18 knots.

Mrs. Annie McKenna, Mrs. Annie Hickey and Miss Mary Hickey have gone to Atlantic City for two weeks.

FAREWELL PARTY

A very enjoyable farewell party was held at the home of James H. Riley, 39 Methuen street, Monday evening in honor of William H. Golden of 423 Lincoln street, who has enrolled in the Harvard Foreign school. Mr. Golden has been a student at Canisius college, Buffalo, N. Y. In the course of the evening he was presented a wrist watch by his friends, and later a general program of entertainment was carried out.

RED CROSS MISSION HEADED BY SON OF LAST JAPA-NESE TYCOON

Princess Yoshihisa Tokugawa, head of the Japanese commission which is visiting the United States and the allied nations to express the gratitude of his country for what their Red Cross organizations have done during the war, is the eldest son of the last Tycoon of Japan. It was the prince's father, more than any other individual, who brought about the end of the civil war among the shoguns in the island empire and elevated the present reigning house to the throne. When the distinguished Japanese statesman arrived in San Francisco, he was greeted by William Lawrence Keane, as special personal representative of Henry P. Davidson, head of the American Red Cross. Keane is shown in the center of the picture, while, on the left, is Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, who made the trip with the prince from Hawaii, where, during a vacation, he narrowly escaped drowning while surf-riding.

The trappers and others employed by the Hudson Bay company have noticed that where deep water was to be found heretofore it is becoming so shallow that navigation is accomplished with difficulty. Investigation has led to the discovery that the shores of the great body of water are gradually being tipped as if an effort was being made to empty its waters into the adjoining sea. The bay where Henry Hudson spent the winter of 1609 has entirely disappeared or has so changed that it cannot be now located, although there is sufficient data left by him to locate the bay under conditions as he found them.

TURNED TABLES

Each Day's Operations Being Further Proof of Completeness of Foch's Victory

Allies Push Forward in Face of Determined and Skillful Resistance by Huns

PARIS, July 24.—Each day's operations bring further proof of the completeness with which the genius of Gen. Foch has turned the tables on the Germans. Instead of slowing down to a condition of what has been called stabilization, as the general public from experience expected, the allies continue to push forward in the face of determined and skillful resistance by the Germans, who have had time to recover from the first shock of surprise.

25 Hun Divisions in Battle
The enemy, according to reports, now has 25 divisions in the battle zone, 400,000 men of which are in the region north of the Marne. In the opinion of military observers, the violent German resistance is due more to political considerations, for it is to the immediate interests of Gen. Ludendorff from a military standpoint, to straighten out his line without delay.

Foch Holds Initiative.
Gen. Foch holds the initiative on all the battle fronts, and it is believed it will take the Germans at least two or three months to get up another full dress offensive. Meanwhile, American troops continue to land. Important gains were realized Tuesday by the allies, particularly by the French troops, who are bearing 70 per cent. of the effort in which they vie in bravery with the Americans, British and Italians.

The Havas correspondent at the front says the French are steadily fighting toward Oulchy-le-Chateau. North of the Marne, in an advance of two kilometers (about 1.14 miles) the allies took fortified farms and Barbillion wood.

The fighting, he adds, surpasses in violence that of the March and May offensives and the Germans rapidly are being worn out. The wild talk of the German official statements, he says, proves more than anything else the confusion in Germany resulting from the allied blow. The Germans may delay their retreat by paying a costly price, but the necessity of reconstructing their general reserves will soon oblige them to straighten their front between Soissons and Rheims.

PATRICK KELLEY DEAD

Well Known Citizen Passed Away Last Night at His Home in Andover Street

Patrick Kelley, a well known resident of this city, died last night at his home, 678 Andover street. Mr. Kelley was in business for several years in Davidson street and was a former member of the Lowell police department. He was a man of winning personality and he appreciated friendships. It will be with great sorrow that many people in Lowell will learn of his death. Modest and retiring, never courting publicity, Mr. Kelley moved about with the smile of friendship on his lips and a hearty grip of the hand that made one feel a little better for having received it.

Mr. Kelley, strong and rugged for his years, had been ailing for about four weeks and while it was known to his family that he could not recover, his death came as a great shock to them. His genial disposition and kindly way endeared him to all with whom he came in contact and he will be missed by many for whom he made life more cheerful and by those whom he assisted and advised.

He was born in Ireland 81 years ago and came to Lowell in 1855. About forty years ago he went into the bottling business in Middle street and later moved his establishment to Davidson street, remaining in business up to the time of his death. He bore his illness with true Christian fortitude and resignation. Deceased was a fervent attendant of the Immaculate Conception church, being one of its pioneer members. He was vice president of the Middlesex Trust Co. and a member of the Lowell Lodge of Elks. He is survived by a son, Thomas F. Kelley.

STEADY ADVANCE

Orders Six New Infantry Divisions Organized in United States This Month

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The advance of the allied and American forces around the Aisne-Marne salient, has been practically steady for the last two days, General March, chief of staff, said today, despite the fact that 15 fresh divisions of German troops have been thrown into the fighting at Soissons and on the line south of there. The Germans are fighting desperately to retain the single railway line remaining in their hands, over which heavy material can be removed as they retreat. If that railway, running from Fismes to Fere-en-Tardenois, is reached by the allied troops, German forces remaining in the salient will be pocketed.

On the Rheims side of the salient, official reports show the enemy has been thrown back an average distance of a mile and a half on a 10 mile front, despite heavily wooded country and high ground to aid his defense. The area lost by the Germans during the last week about equals that gained by them on the Flanders front in April.

Organize Six New Divisions
General March announced that he had ordered six new infantry divisions organized in this country during July, stationed at Camp Devens, Mass., Meade, Md., Sheridan, Ala., Custer, Mich., Funston, Kan., and Lewis, Wash. Two regular infantry regiments will form the nucleus of each new division. Home guards have replaced regulars at interior guard posts for this purpose and the regulars are now moving to the camps designated. Aside from the two infantry regiments of regulars, the divisions will be composed of national army troops.

The chief of staff said the American divisions he mentioned last Saturday as involved in the fighting were still constantly engaged. He added no additional American units to those already known to be on the line in this region.

Storm Helped Gen. Foch

In discussing the situation on the Aisne-Marne line, General March said it bore striking similarity to what happened to the Austrian drive in Italy. A great storm had cut off the advancing Austrians on the Piave line, he said, and disaster resulted. Similarly, a heavy storm masked the movement of tanks and troops when General Foch struck on the Soissons-Chateau-Thierry front, and the Germans were taken completely by surprise.

Gen. March said it seemed that the Lord was getting tired of the partnership of "me and Gott."

The French attack of yesterday, north of Montdidier on the Picardy front, is viewed, Gen. March said, as a local operation not directly involved in the strategy of the Aisne-Marne battle front. It has a great value, however, he said, as it serves to keep the Germans guessing.

Hun Losses 180,000

south. Around Barbillion wood and toward the Marne, the allies, in heavy fighting, on rain-soaked fields, are pressing back the Germans, who have attacked viciously but apparently fruitlessly. Farther east, along the Marne, the bridgeheads on the northern bank are being enlarged by the French and Americans, who have advanced two to three miles between Mont St. Pere and Chartevea. The Germans evidently have been driven entirely from the northern bank except at several points east of Dormans.

French Repulse Counter Attack

Following its policy of conservatism the French war office reports nothing but heavy artillery fire around the salient and the repulse of a German counter attack in the region of Vignory, five miles southwest of Rheims. Nothing is said as to progress against the increased German resistance north of the Marne, nor is there mention of the situation north of Montdidier, where on Tuesday morning, the French took positions dominating long reaches of the Aisne river.

Rain Slows Up Fighting

From unofficial sources it is reported that the rainy weather of the last few days has slowed up the fighting between Soissons and Rheims, and probably also has retarded the German retreat from the bag in which the crown prince's forces were caught by Gen. Mangin's thrust against the western side of the salient.

Plans for German Retreat

Allied airmen report conditions back of the German lines as indicative of a German retreat as far north as the Vesle river. The line of the Ourcq has been virtually rendered untenable by the allied advance to the neighborhood of Oulchy-le-Chateau and Oulchy-le-Ville, north of the stream.

Allies Gain South of Soissons

Just south of Soissons, the French and Americans are known to have reached the western bank of the Crise river, but there have been no reports of a further advance in this vital region. Should the allies succeed in crossing the Crise in force and in facing the plateau to the eastward of that stream, German occupation of Soissons would probably be short lived. Such an advance would also make the line of the Vesle of slight advantage to the Germans and would probably compel their eventual retirement to the Aisne river. For this reason, the allied efforts to forge eastward of Buzancy, may be expected to be redoubled and the German resistance at this point will probably be of the sternest character.

British Have Captured 1100

Southwest of Rheims, in the heavily wooded country along the Ardre, the British and French pressure continues. An average advance of about two-thirds of a mile has been made on a limited front. The drive here is a corollary to the French pressure astride the Ourcq. The British have taken 1100 prisoners, making their total for three days 1100.

Huns Hurl Fresh Troops Into Fray

Fresh troops constantly are being thrown in by the Germans, apparently only for the purpose of checking the allied advance sufficiently to permit the removal of large quantities of stores and big guns from within the salient to a line paralleling the Vesle. The enemy is reported to be removing his supplies as rapidly and as well as he is able, but the allied artillery fire and bombing activity are harassing. Stores and ammunition dumps which cannot be moved, are being fired.

Allied Aviators Active

American and British aviators are aiding the French army in bombing expeditions in the zone behind the German lines. Thirty-seven machines were accounted for Monday, while Berlin claims that 38 allied airplanes were brought down.

Hun Losses Estimated at 160,000

Since the fighting began July 15, the Germans are reported to have used between 60 and 70 divisions. Estimates from French headquarters place the German losses in that period at 180,000 killed, wounded and prisoners.

French Take 1600 in Picardy

In Picardy the Germans have failed to react against the French stroke northwest of Montdidier, in which three towns and heights dominating the Aisne were taken. Paris reports that the prisoners taken total 1500. The French losses are said to have been slight.

Allies Push on in Albania

In Albania the French and Italians continue their progress up the Devoli valley toward Elbasan. In two days the French have captured 600 prisoners.

AMSTERDAM, July 24.—Americans lost heavily in the fighting at Epieds, on July 22, according to the Wolff bureau correspondent at the front. FATE OF BASEBALL

Brief Drawn by National Commission Asking Delay Presented to Gen. Crowder

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The brief drawn by the National Baseball commission and presented today to Provost Marshal General Crowder, asks extension of the effective time of the work or fight regulations as they apply to professional baseball players, until the end of the present season or until the clubs can have time to prepare for a suspension of operations.

General Crowder took the brief under advisement in order to make recommendations to Secretary Baker. A definite ruling by the secretary as to when his order affecting players should become effective, was expected late in the day.

General Crowder was told by the baseball representatives that if the regulations were enforced now, less than 60 players would remain in the two major leagues, and that there would be no time in which to recruit new players to enable the clubs to complete the present playing schedules.

BIG RACE ON BOULEVARD

FELL THREE STORIES
George Martineau, aged 4 years and residing at 85 Ennell street, fell from a third-story piazza at his home this morning, and sustained a fracture of the right leg. The ambulance was summoned and the injured boy was removed to the Lowell Corporation hospital.
